Congress Is Likely to Vote Raises

Original $27,500 Pay Figure May Be Cut for Legislators and Federal Judges

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Congress appeared likely today to vote, probably next month, for substantial pay raises for its own members and for federal judges, starting next January.

A protest from Congress' own ranks that the pay already may be too high seemed to represent only a small minority's view.

But a special commission's recommendation that the legislators' annual gross income be hiked to $27,500 may be scaled down to $20,000 or $22,500, still a sizeable boost over the present $15,000.

House Majority Leader Halleck (R.-Ind.) predicted that Congress would approve a pay raise, although not necessarily the full amount recommended.

Outspoken opposition to the raise came from Reps. Burdick (R.-N. D.) and Hoffman (R.-Mich.), but neither seemed optimistic about chances for blocking it.

Says Most Overpaid
Burdick disagreed with the commission's finding that congressmen are underpaid.

"Most of us are overpaid," he said. "Fifty per cent of the members couldn't make back home what they're getting here. This isn't hard work. We horse around for two months getting started and waste another month finishing up and then we take a vacation for four or five months."

During the six or seven months that Congress actually is in session, Burdick said, "many members spend little time here, and when we're not in session, many of them travel around the world on junkets paid for by the taxpayers."

Hoffman disputed the argument that higher pay would attract higher-grade candidates for Congress.

"You'd still get the same kind of members," he commented. "A man comes to Congress because of a desire to serve the public, not to get rich. These millionaires in the cabinet didn't take those jobs just for the salary involved."

Sees More Inflation

Hoffman predicted that if Congress raises its own pay, it will encourage other government workers and employees in private industry to demand higher wages.

That, he said, would set off another round of inflation.

There was no publicly-stated congressional opposition to raising the pay of federal judges, also recommended by the commission.

60 Drivers Strike

Port Chester, Jan. 16 (AP)—A walkout of 60 bus drivers on a 20-mile line between New Rochelle, N. Y., and Stamford, Conn., entered its second day today with union-management negotiations apparently postponed indefinitely. The drivers, members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen (Ind.), struck yesterday morning to enforce demands for a 16-cent-an-hour wage raise plus work guarantees.

Saugerties Woman Awarded $15,000 In Supreme Court

Mrs. Margaret Lamb of Saugerties was awarded $15,000 Friday in Supreme Court for injuries which she suffered Sept. 11, 1953, when the car driven by her husband was involved in an accident on the Thruway near Saugerties. She alleged serious injuries and loss of hearing as a result of her injuries. Her husband, Attorney Daniel Lamb, was awarded $1,710 for damage to his car, $225 for medical fees and $800 for his injuries. The verdicts were against Gordon A. Flood. Also awarded against Flood was a verdict of $98 for the Orange and Black Bus Lines for damage to a bus of that company which was also involved in the accident.

After the action had been partially tried the defendant conceded liability and the question only was to the amounts to be awarded was submitted to the jury.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamb were allegedly driving over the Thruway and had passed a bus which was following another bus which in turn was towing a third bus. Plaintiffs alleged the Flood car was operated in a negligent manner, causing the Lamb car to leave the road and overturn. In the accident one of the buses was also damaged.

Rosenblum and Lamb with N. LeVan Haver as trial counsel appeared for plaintiffs and DeGraff, Foy, Conway and Holt-Harris by Arthur B. Ewig appeared for defendant.

U.S. Arms Germany With Missiles for Red Areas

Air Force Says Two Pilotless Squadrons Are Going to Europe This Year, Emphasizing Dulles, Eisenhower Basic Strategy

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—The United States is arming its forces in Germany with guided missiles capable of carrying atomic warheads hundreds of miles into Red-held territory.

The air force announced tersely last night that it will send two pilotless bomber squadrons to Germany this year. No details were given.

This move seemed to fit into basic U. S. strategy defined by Secretary of State Dulles in a New York speech Tuesday and affirmed by President Eisenhower at his news conference the next day.

This strategy, Dulles said, is based on "massive retaliatory power" to deter Soviet aggression.

Question on Troops

In this connection, the decision to augment the fire power of American forces helping defend western Europe immediately raised a question:

Would this mean fewer American troops in Europe?

"No, not in itself," Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson told reporters yesterday. He didn't say more.

The two squadrons bound for Germany will be equipped with B-61 Matador missiles. These have been in mass production at the Baltimore plant of the Glenn L. Martin Co., for more than a year.

The air force did not disclose the number of missiles in a squadron, but it is believed several hundred may be allotted to each. By comparison, a squadron of jet fighters numbers about 25 planes.

The Matador is the first offensive guided missile to be turned over to a tactical unit of the United States armed forces. Other such missiles with greater speed and wider range are being designed or are undergoing tests.

Difference in Planes

The Matador is about the same size and shape as a conventional fighter. The differences, aside from the missile's self-steering radar and radio system, are these:

1. The Matador needs no take-off run. It is hurled into the air by a powerful rocket with a thrust of about 40,000 pounds. Two seconds later, with the missile airborne and well on its way, the rocket burns out and a J-37 jet engine takes over propulsion.

2. Having no pilot and free of the mass of instruments and controls needed to fly a plane, the Matador can carry a far heavier load than a comparable jet fighter. It is entirely possible that an atomic warhead close to the size used for strategic bombing could be loaded into the Matador.

Reds Trying to Make Economic Weight Felt in World of Trade

By TOM WHITNEY
(AP Foreign Staff)

This week's hullabaloo over a proposed purchase of surplus butter and oil for the Soviet Union underlines one fact: Moscow is actively seeking to make her economic weight felt in the world of trade.

Agencies of the Soviet government and other Communist governments are trying to buy and sell in the non-Communist world. And non-Communist governments and officials are interested.

Gunnar Myrdal, secretary general of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe, is making a tour of his territory which will take him to Moscow as well as the capitals of the west. He has discussed with various western European officials the prospects for greater east-west trade this year.

The British government has given the green light to a group of British businessmen who have gone to Moscow in search of orders.

In 1953 the U.S.S.R. concluded trade pacts with the following nations outside the Iron Curtain: India, France, Finland, Iran, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Iceland, Italy, Greece, Argentina, Afghanistan and Egypt. Some of these were new; others represented an expansion of previous arrangements.

East European allies of the U.S.S.R. were active too. For instance, Czechoslovakia in the past six months has made deals with Indonesia, India, Ceylon, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Brazil, Argentina and Bolivia.

In the Far East the Chinese Communists have been making many agreements, including about a dozen with non-Communist countries of Europe, Latin America and Asia.

Talk about trade with the U.S.S.R. has been making a great stir, particularly in Britain and in Western Europe. Some news items have been widely publicized throughout the non-Communist world.

Death Ends Old Murder Case Here

Demetrakoupoulos Dies at Matteawan; Is Sent to Hospital After He Admits 2 Slayings

Death of Peter Demetrakoupoulos Tuesday at Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, brings to a close a first degree murder charge which was lodged by the Grand jury against Demetrakoupoulos in 1944. The first degree murder indictment had been pending in Ulster county since Judge John M. Cashin committed the defendant to the Matteawan hospital on December 4, 1944, after he had been adjudged incompetent to understand the nature of the charge.

Demetrakoupoulos, 45 years old at the time he was sent to the Matteawan State Hospital, was charged with having stabbed to death his uncle, Peter Takis, 45, at the Takis farm on the New Paltz-Minnebaska road in the town of Gardiner on September 16, 1944. The body was found in a clump of brush across the road from the Takis home by Takis's sister, Mrs. Fannie Kotofela. A pair of scissors had been used to commit the crime.

Admits Two Deaths

N. LeVan Haver, then district attorney, sent out an alarm for the Ozone Park machinist and he was arrested at his home the following day where his wife and two children were found dead in the apartment. Demetrakoupoulos admitted killing his uncle and wife but denied killing his 13 and 5 year old children, Annie and Helen. He held they had been killed by opening gas jets in the kitchen and blamed his wife. He said he came home to find the children dead and he then killed his wife, came to Ulster county and killed Takis because his wife had charged Takis had assaulted her earlier that year at the farm and she had become "ashamed" of that act and had killed the children.

Queens police, alerted by the authorities in Ulster county, went to the Ozone Park apartment, found the wife and two children dead and arrested Demetrakoupoulos. Police at the time said he had admitted the two killings but denied he killed the children.

Called Incompetent

The Ulster county grand jury returned a first degree murder indictment and on December 4, 1944, the defendant was found incompetent to stand trial and was sent to Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane. Had he recovered sufficiently he would have been brought back to stand trial for the crime.

His death in the hospital on Tuesday closes the case and the next move will be for District Attorney Howard C. St. John to seek a dismissal of the indictment by the court.

State police who investigated the case in 1944 learned the defendant had come to the farm early on September 16, 1944, after he waited until Takis came out of the house early in the morning to do the chores and then committed the crime. Takis had attempted to escape by running from the house but he was overtaken in the clump of brush across the road from the home, which is in a secluded section, and stabbed to death. The murderer then returned to his home where he was arrested next day.

Rene Coty Takes Over as President Of France Today

Paris, Jan. 16 (AP)—Rene Coty, a 71-year-old lawmaker from Le Havre, was installed today as new President of the French Republic.

The outgoing President, Vincent Auriol, told Coty he was taking over at a time when the very "authority of the state, its independence and its efficiency are threatened."

Auriol spoke at ceremonies at the Elysee Palace residence of the French President. Coty, an attorney who has been in French Parliaments since 1923, will make it his home until 1961. He was elected by Parliament on Dec. 23.

Auriol gave this pessimistic picture of France's position in the world today:

"Our economy is only partially at the level of our foreign competitors. Many French families still are waiting for a house and for the possibility of acquiring through their work, a decent existence in a more just and better organized society."

"The French union is supporting in Indochina a war heavy in sacrifices. In a world still paralyzed by mistrust and fear, France is having difficulty in accomplishing her mission of reason and peace."

Rhee Sets April 23 Deadline for Peace In Korea Trouble

Won't Wait for Sell-Out Is His Remark on Unification; Date Is Modified

Seoul, Jan. 16 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today set an April deadline for the peaceful unification of Korea and warned that "we will not sit back and wait until we are sold out."

An official government spokesman later issued a statement modifying the aging president's warning.

Rhee told a news conference that 180 days after the start of preliminary Korean peace talks last Oct. 26 South Korea will be "free to take our own action—good, bad or indifferent."

This would make the deadline April 23.

Rhee reiterated the 180-day warning three times during the news conference. But six hours later Dr. Karl Hong Ki, official government spokesman, said the president "did not set a definite deadline of April 26 for Korean unification."

Associated Press Tokyo Bureau Chief Robert E. Eason said Rhee's statement apparently does not coincide with what he has told the UN command.

Feel He'll Change

The feeling at UN headquarters is that Rhee will not break the armistice, Eason said.

The ROK army, while a powerful fighting force, would run out of ammunition in about six days if deprived of UN support.

Eason said Rhee presumably would order his troops back into battle only if he felt UN forces would have to join him or be overrun.

Rhee said that even if a peace conference convenes "I do not expect any great achievement."

Asked about the possibility that no conference will be held, the ROK President replied:

"I think that would automatically relieve my government of the obligation for waiting."

Will Give Month

Rhee said he would give allied (Continued on Page 5, Col. 8)

Herman I. DuBois Cites Poughkeepsie Tangle in Traffic Without Adequate Routes; Urges Quick Action on Project

Local 255, International Painters and Decorators of America, voted unanimously last night in favor of the state-proposed arterial route plan for the city of Kingston.

This is the first local organization to place itself on record in favor of the plan which was submitted to Mayor Frederick H. Stang in Council Chambers yesterday morning.

50 Attend Meeting

Approximately 50 attended the meeting of the local representing members from both Ulster and Greene counties.

Stephen Gill of 444 Hasbrouck avenue, business agent, told The Freeman today it was the belief of the union that the Thruway spur as proposed would eliminate traffic congestion.

"It's something we need very badly," he said.

Herman I. DuBois of 36 Franklin street, a member of the local who introduced the resolution, said he had worked in Poughkeepsie for a good part of the past eight or 10 years and saw what happened there "without a decent arterial route."

He said if Kingston fails to act there would be a "bottleneck the likes of which we've never seen."

Similar Action Foreseen

He expressed the hope and belief that other area unions and organizations would also come to the support of the proposal.

The plan is designed to facilitate the movement of traffic in the downtown area, shuttle a heavy flow away from Washington avenue viaduct, improve the city's approach at the Rondout creek bridge and provide an accommodating interchange system in the Kingston area with special advantages to main business districts.

Brokers Talk Record '54 High As Market Climbs This Week

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—The stock market this week climbed vigorously up into price levels that haven't been probed in the past eight months.

The extent of the rise hasn't been matched for well over a year. Bullish enthusiasm expanded with the advance. Brokers began to talk about the possibility of a determined try for a new 1953-54 high before very long.

When the week started, brokers frankly regarded the market as being in a test area from which it could very easily move swiftly in either direction.

The market chose to go higher, and traders and investors displayed an instant willingness to go right along with it.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $2.30 on the week. Such an advance hasn't been seen since the third week in November of 1952 when the stock market was in the midst of its enthusiastic rally following the election of President Eisenhower.

As measured by the Associated Press average, the market continued on up in 1952 to a new high mark early in 1953. From there it descended to a 1953 low in mid-September.

From that point a recovery rose to an early December peak. Several tries to get above the peak ended in failure—until this week.

The market last Monday was quietly lower as the President delivered his messages to Congress on farm and labor legislation. At least part of the depression of prices was caused by a deep snow in New York that cut down boardroom attendance.

The next day the market started a quiet advance for no particular reason, just like so many routine trading days. Leadership was good, but volume was low and the market was narrow.

On Wednesday the railroads led a rally in the second hour that sharpened trader appetites. Interest definitely was roused all around. The question, of course, was whether the market could keep it up or whether it would subside as it had in the past—the latter a bearish sign.

Five Active Issues
The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were: Niagara Mohawk power up 1 at 28%; on 217,900 shares; Pepsi-Cola up 1/4 at 14%; 20th Century-Fox up 1/4 at 22; and American Telephone up 1/4 at 15 1/2.

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

Wilrich Petroleum off 1/16 at 3; with 69,300 shares traded; U. S. Air Conditioning up 1/4 at 31; Merrill Petroleum up 1/4 at 6 1/2; Creole Petroleum off 1/4 at 81 1/2; and Jupiter Oils up 1/4 at 1 1/2.

Debate Out While PWs Being Held

Proposal of Feb. 9th Date Turned Down; Soviet Bloc Satisfied, Is Report

United Nations, Jan. 16 (AP)—The United States with support of other big powers gave the cold shoulder today to India's proposal to recall the UN General Assembly Feb. 9 for debate on Korea.

Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, of India, assembly president, had issued the call earlier this week, asking for replies by Jan. 22.

The United States said it would not be able to decide by that date—which meant that the U. S. didn't want a session called while the prisoner question and the Korean political conference talks remained up in the air. The U. S. left the door open for a later meeting by adding it was keeping the proposal under consideration.

Reportedly taking the same view were Britain, France, Australia and the Netherlands—all members of the UN allied force in Korea.

Poland Dissents

The Soviet bloc, except for Poland, went on record supporting Mrs. Pandit's plea for the resumed session. Iraq alone among the 16-nation Asian-African bloc also reported it supported the call.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld sent to Mrs. Pandit in New Delhi his appraisal of the situation through the Indian delegation.

An Indian spokesman said Mrs. Pandit has given no indication when she intends to return here. The Deputy Indian delegation leader, V. K. Krishna Menon, is expected late this month.

When the assembly recessed in December, it was under a resolution that it would come back if Mrs. Pandit, with the concurrence of at least 31 members, summoned it back.

Not in General Interest

The United States answer defined the attitude of a number of other delegations. It said that the United States is not able to say by next Friday that a session beginning Feb. 9 would be in the general interest.

The U. S. feels no decision should be made until the fate of 22,000 anti-Communist prisoners is made final Jan. 23 and until it is known whether the Korean peace conference preliminary talks will be resumed at Panmunjom.

If the talks are resumed, there would be no point in an assembly session at the same time and a session might even be harmful to such talks, in the U. S. view.

Death Ends Old Murder Case Here

Demetrakopoulos Dies at Matteawan; Is Sent to Hospital After He Admits 2 Slayings

Death of Peter Demetrakopoulos Tuesday at Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, brings to a close a first degree murder charge which was lodged by the Grand jury against Demetrakopoulos in 1944. The first degree murder indictment had been pending in Ulster county since Judge John M. Had he recovered sufficiently he would have been brought back to stand trial for the crime.

His death in the hospital on Tuesday closes the case and the next move will be for District Attorney Howard C. St. John to seek a dismissal of the indictment by the court.

State police who investigated the case in 1944 learned the defendant had come to the farm early on September 16, 1944, apparently waited until Takis came out of the house early in the morning to do the chores and then committed the crime. Takis had attempted to escape by running from the house but he was overtaken in the clump of brush across the road from the home, which is in a secluded section, and stabbed to death. The murderer then returned to his home where he was arrested next day.

Rene Coty Takes Over as President Of France Today

Paris, Jan. 16 (AP)—Rene Coty, a 71-year-old lawmaker from Le Havre, was installed today as new President of the French Republic. The outgoing President, Vincent Auriol, told Coty he was taking over at a time when the very "authority of the state, its independence and its efficiency are threatened."

Auriol spoke at ceremonies at the Elysee Palace residence of the French President. Coty, an attorney who has been in French Parliaments since 1923, will make it his home until 1961. He was elected by Parliament on Dec. 23.

Auriol gave this pessimistic picture of France's position in the world today:

"Our economy is only partially at the level of our foreign competitors. Many French families still are waiting for a house and for the possibility of acquiring through their work, a decent existence in a more just and better organized society."

"The French union is supporting in Indochina a war heavy in sacrifices. In a world still paralyzed by mistrust and fear, France is having difficulty in accomplishing her mission of reason and peace."

Rhee Sets April 23 Deadline for Peace In Korea Trouble

Won't Wait for Sell-Out Is His Remark on Unification: Date Is Modified

Seoul, Jan. 16 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today set an April deadline for the peaceful unification of Korea and warned that "we will not sit back and wait until we are sold out."

An official government spokesman later issued a statement modifying the aging president's warning.

Rhee told a news conference that 180 days after the start of preliminary Korean peace talks last Oct. 26 South Korea will be "free to take our own action—good, bad or indifferent."

This would make the deadline April 23.

Rhee reiterated the 180-day warning three times during the news conference. But six hours later Dr. Karl Hong Ki, official government spokesman, said the president "did not set a definite deadline of April 26 for Korean unification."

Associated Press Tokyo Bureau Chief Robert Eunson said Rhee's statement apparently does not coincide with what he has told the UN command.

Feel He'll Change
The feeling at UN headquarters is that Rhee will not break the armistice, Eunson said.

The ROK army, while a powerful fighting force, would run out of ammunition in about six days if deprived of UN support.

Eunson said Rhee presumably would order his troops back into battle only if he felt UN forces would have to join him or be overrun.

Rhee said that even if a peace conference convenes "I do not expect any great achievement."

Asked about the possibility that no conference will be held, the ROK President replied:

"I think that would automatically relieve my government of the obligation for waiting."

Will Give Month
Rhee said he would give allied (Continued on Page 5, Col. 8)

Herman I. DuBois Cites Poughkeepsie Tangle in Traffic Without Adequate Routes; Urges Quick Action on Project

Local 255, International Painters and Decorators of America, voted unanimously last night in favor of the state-proposed arterial route plan for the city of Kingston.

This is the first local organization to place itself on record in favor of the plan which was submitted to Mayor Frederick H. Stang in Council Chambers yesterday morning.

50 Attend Meeting
Approximately 50 attended the meeting of the local representing members from both Ulster and Greene counties.

Stephen Gill of 444 Hasbrouck avenue, business agent, told The Freeman today it was the belief of the union that the Thruway spur as proposed would eliminate traffic congestion.

"It's something we need very badly," he said.

Herman I. DuBois of 36 Franklin street, a member of the local who introduced the resolution, said he had worked in Poughkeepsie for a good part of the past eight or 10 years and saw what happened there "without a decent arterial route."

He said if Kingston fails to act there would be a "bottleneck the likes of which we've never seen."

Similar Action Foreseen
He expressed the hope and belief that other areas and organizations would also come to the support of the proposal.

The plan is designed to facilitate the movement of traffic in the downtown area, shuttle a heavy flow away from Washington avenue viaduct, improve the city's approach at the Rondout creek bridge and provide an accommodating interchange system in the Kingston area with special advantages to main business districts.

Brokers Talk Record '54 High As Market Climbs This Week

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—The stock market this week climbed vigorously up into price levels that haven't been probed in the past eight months.

The extent of the rise hasn't been matched for well over a year. Bullish enthusiasm expanded with the advance. Brokers began to talk about the possibility of a determined try for a new 1953-54 high before very long.

When the week started, brokers frankly regarded the market as being in a test area from which it could very easily move swiftly in either direction.

The market chose to go higher, and traders and investors displayed an instant willingness to go right along with it.

As measured by the Associated Press average, the market continued on up in 1952 to a new high mark early in 1953. From there it descended to a 1953 low in mid-September.

From that point a recovery rose to an early December peak. Several tries to get above the peak ended in failure—until this week.

The market last Monday was quietly lower as the President delivered his messages to Congress on farm and labor legislation. At least part of the depression of prices was caused by a deep snow in New York that cut down boardroom attendance.

The next day the market started a quiet advance for no particular reason, just like so many routine trading days. Leadership was good, but volume was low and the market was narrow.

On Wednesday the railroad led a rally in the second hour that sharpened trader appetites. Interest definitely was roused all around. The question, of course, was whether the market could keep it up or whether it would subside as it had in the past—the latter a bearish sign.

Five Active Issues
The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were: Niagara Mohawk power up 1 at 28½ on 217,900 shares; Pepsi-Cola up ¾ at 14½; General Motors up 2½ at 62½; 20th Century-Fox up 1¼ at 22; and American Telephone up 1¼ at 158½.

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

Wilrich Petroleum off 1/16 at ¾ with 69,300 shares traded; U. S. Air Conditioner up ¼ at 3¼; Merrill Petroleum up ¼ at 6¼; Creole Petroleum off ¼ at 81¼; and Jupiter Oils up ¼ at 1¼.

Debate Out While PWs Being Held

Proposal of Feb. 9th Date Turned Down; Soviet Bloc Satisfied, Is Report

United Nations, Jan. 16 (AP)—The United States with support of other big powers gave the cold shoulder today to India's proposal to recall the UN General Assembly Feb. 9 for debate on Korea.

Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, of India, assembly president, had issued the call earlier this week, asking for replies by Jan. 22.

The United States said it would not be able to decide by that date—which meant that the U. S. didn't want a session called while the prisoner question and the Korean political conference talks remained up in the air. The U. S. left the door open for a later meeting by adding it was keeping the proposal under consideration.

Reportedly taking the same view were Britain, France, Australia and the Netherlands—all members of the UN allied force in Korea.

Poland Dissents
The Soviet bloc, except for Poland, went on record supporting Mrs. Pandit's plea for the resumed session. Iraq alone among the 16-nation Asian-African bloc also reported it supported the call.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld sent to Mrs. Pandit his appraisal of the situation through the Indian delegation.

An Indian spokesman said Mrs. Pandit has given no indication when she intends to return here. The deputy Indian delegation leader, V. K. Krishna Menon, is expected late this month.

When the assembly recessed in December, it was under a resolution that it would come back if Mrs. Pandit, with the concurrence of at least 31 members, summoned it back.

Not in General Interest
The United States answer defined the attitude of a number of other delegations. It said that the United States is not able to say by next Friday that a session beginning Feb. 9 would be in the general interest.

The U. S. feels no decision should be made until the fate of 22,000 anti-Communist prisoners is made final Jan. 23 and until it is known whether the Korean peace conference preliminary talks will be resumed at Panmunjom.

If the talks are resumed, there would be no point in an assembly session at the same time and a session might even be harmful to such talks, in the U. S. view.

Europe Suffers Death, Wreckage

London, Jan. 16 (AP)—Gales howling across the British Isles and western Europe quieted down today, leaving in their wake a heavy death toll and costly wreckage. Four died in Britain and five in Germany.

A blizzard—the third in 14 days—lashed Sweden but the worst appeared over for the British Isles and continental Europe after a nightmarish night.

Avalanches Kill 130
Austria, counting 130 dead in snow avalanches, was still digging out with many lonely villages cut off from the outside world in the Great Walser "Valley of Death," American helicopters taking off in mercy missions were pumpered somewhat by high winds sweeping the mountainous ski country.

Holland's repaired dikes withstood their first grueling storm test since the great floods of almost a year ago. The last of 67 big dike breaches were plugged in November. Nearly 2,000 people perished when the dikes gave way on Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 of last year.

Polio Vaccine Will Get Nine Tests

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—A spokesman for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis says each batch of the polio vaccine being readied for youngsters will be tested nine times before being administered to the children.

The first of the trials on school children are scheduled to get under way next month. The foundation says no counties as yet have been chosen officially, but may be within a week or two.

A foundation spokesman said yesterday the pre-administration tests would be conducted by the pharmaceutical firm that makes the vaccine; by the University of Pittsburgh Laboratory of Dr. Jonas Salk, who developed the vaccine, and by the U. S. health service.

Each of the three, the spokesman added, will test each batch once on monkeys, once on mice and once on tissue cuttings.

Saugerties

Vozdik Renamed
By Chamber Group

Saugerties, Jan. 15—During the annual meeting of the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce, Andrew P. Vozdik was elected president for his second term. Also reelected were M. Lawrence Carroll as first vice-president and Mrs. Irene Roming as second vice-president.

The new treasurer of the organization was designated as Ben Greenspan who filled the place left vacant when the incumbent Robert S. Russell declined the re-nomination due to pressure of other work. The organization gave the outgoing treasurer a vote of thanks for the notable performance of the position he held in the chamber.

George E. DuBois succeeded himself to the position of secretary which he has held now for the 26th consecutive time. DuBois first became secretary in 1928. He then replaced George Ohley and has held that position up to this time.

The nominating committee which presented the slate of officers to the group included James J. Dargan, William Ziegler, and William F. Kelly.

Sees Banner Year Ahead

Preceding the election of officers, President Vozdik reviewed the accomplishments of the local chamber and expressed his opinion that 1954 would be a banner year in the history of the Chamber.

A new Chamber project was made known at this time. An announcement was made that a special license plate symbolic of Saugerties would be distributed by the Chamber. The Chamber has 200 of these plates which will serve to advertise Saugerties. They will be orange with white lettering. On the left side will be pictured a Dutch boy, in the center a wind mill, and on the right a replica of Rip Van Winkle. The plate was originally designed by John W. Davis and follows along the lines of Saugerties' origin which was founded by the Dutch. The 200 plates will be distributed without cost. The first plate will be given to Town Supervisor Peter Williams and the second to Mayor George P. Holmes. Members of the Town and Village Boards will come next and then distribution will be made to all Chamber of Commerce members. Should the demand be large enough, additional plates will be ordered.

Do You Remember
Mediation Stalls
On Air Line Pay

By SOPHIE MILLER

Back in the 1890's Judge Clearwater had Diedrick Versteeg, translator of the Holland Society, translate then recently restored Dutch records of Ulster county. The Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal of Thursday, March 19, 1896, carried an article of interesting items by Mr. Versteeg. For instance, one item which he found, was of early spring of 1662 which he tells in the following manner: "There existed at the time no restaurant at Wiltwyck, and bachelors or strangers could not always be accommodated with meals, it seems, as it was shown by a suit of Hester Donwens (who may have been the wife of Berent Gerretsen) against Hey Olferssen. The woman accused Hey of stealing food and other things of her. The taking of the food at night, by Hey, was defended by him, saying, 'because she would not give me food, and I was working for her. I tried to procure it, as there is little or no food for sale here.' That no theft was meant was shown later on by the decision of the court, which absolutely exonerated Hey."

Another item read in part: "Even the beatings administered to pigs gave rise to law suits, and at one time was caused that a man had to pay six guilders fine for the poor, not, however, for beating said noisy animal, but for having said that, somebody else had done it; slander." To show how fair they tried to be, "Albert Gysbertsen, one of the judges, accused Aert Martensen Dooen of having killed his pig. Defendant admitted having killed a pig, and the court sentenced him to deposit with the court six schepel of wheat, to be paid to the party able to prove that the killed pig belonged to him."

To those who wish to learn more about the wage scale and rents, etc. back in the good old 1660's in Wiltwyck, Mr. Versteeg writes: "From a suit entered Nov. 28, we learn that the annual wages of a young farm laborer amounted to 15 schepels of wheat, or about 90 guilders, or about 75 cents American money per week. A suit for rent brought about this time, shows that the rent paid for a certain class of dwellings in Wiltwyck only amounted to four guilders, or $1.60 per month."

It is also said that up to Tuesday, Feb. 6, 1663, justice had been free in Wiltwyck; no charges were to be paid, but on the above date the magistrates decided that the parties suing each other shall pay 36 stivers, to be advanced by the complainant, at the expense of the loser of the suit. This money was to pay the rent of the place where the ordinary sessions of the court took place." But even then, "a majority of commissioners resolved June 5, 1663, that the court shall not sit any more until there be four or five cases, and if necessary, for the conveniences of the residents, shall sit every week. The reason being, that in the absence of a village hall, the rent for the room cannot be met."

After the terrible Indian massacre of June 1663 many villagers were called in court for breaking various rules of security. For in-

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—A mediation official says his office "has just about exhausted every effort" to resolve the wage dispute between American Airlines and the CIO Transport Workers Union's Air Transport Division.

Federal Mediator Frank Switzer, after conferring separately with both sides all day yesterday, said:

"The negotiators definitely broke off today. I don't know what further action either side will take. There are no contemplated future meetings planned."

The union has demanded a 29-cent hourly wage boost for some 6,000 maintenance and ground personnel whose average earnings now range from $1.45 to $2.42.

A company spokesman said the airline has offered a wage raise of 12 cents an hour and will arbitrate if the union accepts a new contract clause specifically defining certain jobs.

A union spokesman said strike strategy meetings had been held throughout the airline's 60 U. S. bases and that "our locals are prepared to take strike action at a moment's notice."

But the spokesman gave no indication when such "notice" might come.

Bomb Speculation

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Ears pricked up in the Senate yesterday when Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, referred in a speech to a "third type" of bomb. Wiley used the term while speaking for legislation to authorize U. S. participation with Canada in construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway. Questioned later, Wiley said his remark was based on newspaper stories speculating on "the A-bomb and the H-bomb and the other bomb." There has been speculation about possible development of a cobalt bomb even more destructive than the atomic or hydrogen bombs.

Accord Health Clinic

A child health conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Health Center in Accord Jan. 27 from 1-3 p. m. These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

stance, one rule was that no one was to go outside the "palisades" without permission or a guard under penalty of 25 guilders, fine. The Indians had not only caused damage to property and persons but also wolves were able to get to the cattle and other farm yard animals. Twelve guilders in reward was paid for anyone bringing in a dead he wolf, and 18 guilders for a dead she-wolf. Every householder had to contribute to this fund. I see mention of cows and pigs but no chickens or chickens.

Child's Outgrown Toys
Useful About the House

A child's outgrown play equipment can come in useful around the house. A blackboard can be fastened to a kitchen door or wall. An outgrown wagon or sled can save lugging heavy baskets of clothes back and forth to the clothes line. A toy broom is handy to use with a dustpan, or for brushing snowy oversteps at the doorway or ashes at the hearth. Crayons can be used for labeling boxes or other containers stored in closets or attics. Small cement play blocks may be used as weights to hold down patterns for seamstresses.

Accented Color Scheme

Light pastels or vibrant clear colors will bring gaiety and freshness to any dark closet. For an accented color scheme in a closet, paint walls and ceiling one color, shaves a contrasting color. If paper is used on closet walls, shaves a contrasting colors. If nizing color, such as the background color of the paper. This same color trick can be used effectively in kitchen cabinets and cupboards.

Fire-Resistant Roof

Sparks falling on flammable roofs has dropped to 12th place among all causes of fire, according to the National Fire Protection Association. That cause was in 10th place last year. In the past it has ranked as high as second. The NFPA says the principal reason for the steady drop is the greater use of fire-resistant roofing materials.

When Shingles Curl

If wooden sidewalk shingles curl, it may indicate either that they have not been properly nailed or that the exposure is too great. It also indicates they are aged, which is further evidenced by the wearing away of the soft wood fibers, leaving the hard grain rough and uneven.

Garden Tool Care

An easy way to care for garden tools after you've finished using them is to remove dirt and oil the tools in one operation, with the help of a pail of clean dry sand mixed with a little lubricating oil.

When Lights Flicker

Electric lamps often flicker because the prongs on the wall plug are bent so that they don't make good contact. Bending them out just a little usually ends the flickering.

No Cause for Alarm

Shellac floors sometimes turn white during very damp weather. The cloudiness will disappear just as soon as the sun comes out and the weather turns dry again.

Stains on Plaster

Smoke and water stains in old plaster should be coated with aluminum paint before repainting to prevent the stains from showing through.

When Door Still Leaks

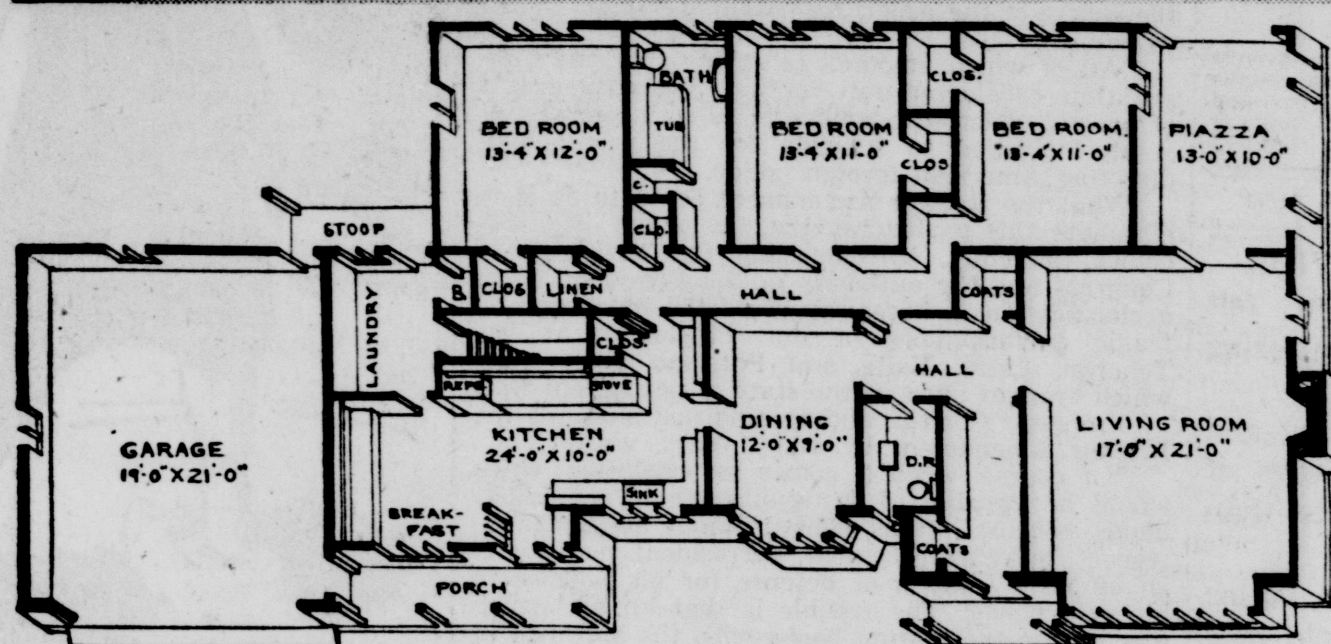

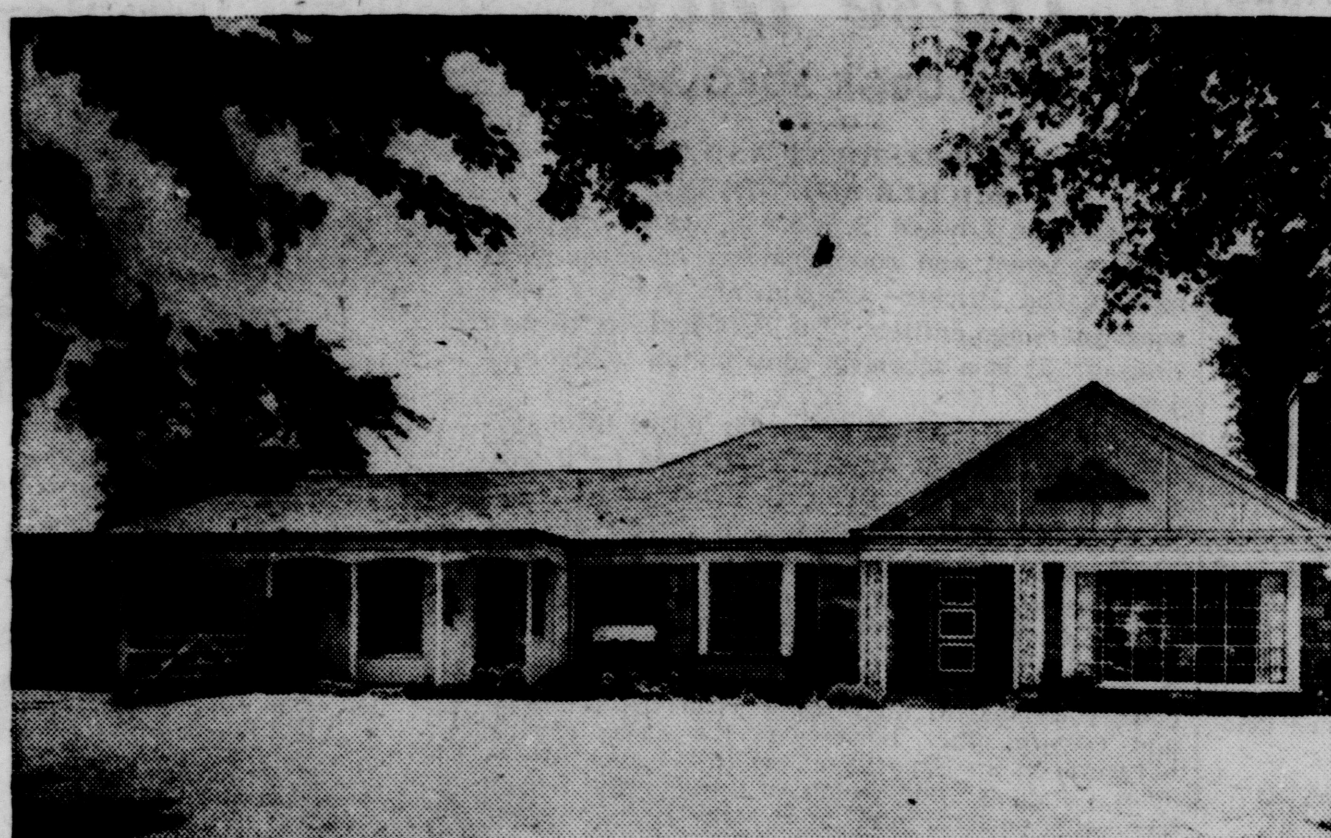

If water leaks in under the front door during driving storms, pry up the sill a little and pack some caulking compound under it.

The ANNAPOLIS

Designed for Rural
Suburban Site
Plan a Playroom
In Two-Car Garage

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Three
Closets Six
Cubage 45,200 ft.
Dimensions 83' x 36'

Large and picturesque, "The Annapolis," presented today by the Home-of-the-Week Plan Service, will look most appealing in a suburban or rural location.

Fieldstone and wood, combined as in the accompanying illustration, makes an especially attractive and appropriate finish for the exterior of this eight-room house. Breaks in the roof line, the wide outside chimney, the little porch-ways and the large window areas all contribute to the distinctive appearance of "The Annapolis."

Needs Space
Measuring 83 by 36 feet this spacious one-story home has a total cubage of 45,200 feet. At least a 105-foot lot would be required for this house and attached garage. To give an overall appearance of spaciousness, to conform with the spacious appearance of the house itself, "The Annapolis" should be situated a good distance from the road with ample land on either side.

Inside this well planned modern home, the kitchen, dining room and living room are in the front part of the house. The large, well-lighted breakfast room, actually a part of the all-modern kitchen, is so roomy and pleasant that you'll enjoy serving many of your family's meals in this area.

Two Lavatories
Also opening off the kitchen is the laundry. Bright and cheerful, the laundry has a door in its back wall to provide ready access to the back yard.

Another feature indicative of the good planning of "The Annapolis" is the inclusion of both a regular bathroom—located near the bedrooms and a dressing room—near the dining and living rooms. When entertaining, and during that inevitable morning rush, you'll especially appreciate these two lavatories.

Storage, too, presents no problem for the family that decides to call "The Annapolis" their home. Throughout the house there are ten conveniently located, good-sized closets; these include a large linen closet and a broom closet.

Porch Convertible
If you want an extra room you can easily have the porch in back of the living room made into one. This porch could also be used as a summer dining room. Should you decide to let it stay a porch you can enclose it with glass or screening.

Blueprints Available
Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Pick Nasturtiums Early

Pick nasturtium flowers as soon as they have opened and enjoy their beauty in the house. If they are left on the plants to develop seed, the formation of additional blooms will be markedly affected. If the plant is for garden display, snip off the blooms as soon as they decline in appearance.

False Economy

Don't bother to straighten out and re-use old nails. They haven't anywhere near the holding power of new nails. The same holds true of nails coated with rust.

Put up a partition in the center and convert the unused portion of the garage into a playroom or workshop. Framing members of 2x4s can be installed without too much difficulty, provided you are reasonably handy with a hammer and a saw. To form the partition proper, simply nail insulating building board to the framing. The material comes in large sheets which are easy to handle, cut and apply. An attractive and economical finish for the other walls of the set-off area also can be obtained by applying the sheets over the studding.

Air-Cooling System

A Long Island, N. Y., builder is offering to include a summer air-cooling system in his new houses, for $750 additional. His homes, now being built in Merrick, are priced at $12,999. A principle similar to that of a gas refrigerator is used to cool the entire house, according to the builder, with cold air blown through the same ducts that are used by the heating system.

When Water Is Needed

Most vegetables will droop in the hot sun, even soon after a rain, and if they are upright and crisp the next morning, they do not need water. But when they are wilted in the morning, soak the soil.

Remove Rose Leaves

Remove the leaves on the lower part of the rose stem because they decay in water and promote the growth of bacteria which plug up the tubes and cause the flowers to wilt for lack of water.

Aluminum Paint

The sealing properties of aluminum paint makes it valuable for many purposes. It is often used as a barrier over bituminous paints, oil stains and other coatings which sometimes bleed through and discolor finishing coats. Many painters use it as a sealing medium when they wish to change the color of interior woodwork that has been previously given a mahogany stain. After the aluminum paint is thoroughly dry, it can be finished with white or any light tint.

Saugerties

Vozdik Renamed
By Chamber Group

Saugerties, Jan. 15—During the annual meeting of the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce, Andrew P. Vozdik was elected president for his second term. Also re-elected were M. Lawrence Carroll as first vice-president and Mrs. Irene Roming as second vice-president.

The new treasurer of the organization was designated as Ben Greenspan who filled the place left vacant when the incumbent Robert S. Russell declined the re-nomination due to pressure of other work. The organization gave the outgoing treasurer a vote of thanks for the notable performance of the position he held in the chamber.

George E. DuBois succeeded himself to the position of secretary which he has held now for the 26th consecutive time. DuBois first became secretary in 1928. He then replaced George Ohley and has held that position up to this time.

The nominating committee which presented the slate of officers to the group included James J. Dargan, William Ziegler, and William F. Kelly.

Sees Banner Year Ahead

Preceding the election of officers, President Vozdik reviewed the accomplishments of the local chamber and expressed his opinion that 1934 would be a banner year in the history of the Chamber.

A new Chamber project was made known at this time. An announcement was made that a special license plate symbolic of Saugerties would be distributed by the Chamber. The Chamber has 200 of these plates which will serve to advertise Saugerties. They will be orange with white lettering. On the left side will be pictured a Dutch boy in the center a wind mill, and on the right a replica of Rip Van Winkle. The plate was originally designed by John W. Davis and follows along the lines of Saugerties' origin which was founded by the Dutch. The 200 plates will be distributed without cost. The first plate will be given to Town Supervisor Peter Williams and the second to Mayor George P. Holmes. Members of the Town and Village Boards will come next and then distribution will be made to all Chamber of Commerce members. Should the demand be large enough, additional plates will be ordered.

Saugerties, Jan. 15—At about 11:50 a. m. Thursday all three Saugerties Fire companies answered an alarm at The Catskill Mountain Star, local weekly newspaper. The conflagration took place in the chimney of the newspaper office. The fire was extinguished by chemicals before the arrival of the fire fighting units. Little damage was reported.

Chess Club to Form

Saugerties, Jan. 15—The formation of a Chess Club at Saugerties High School has been in progress under the direction of Igor Hudakoff. The purpose of the club being to teach members the art of playing the classic game. The planning includes tournaments and awards. Meetings are scheduled for Thursday at 8:20 p. m.

Methodist Churches

Plan Meeting Series
Saugerties, Jan. 15—A series of Sunday night Fellowship meetings are being planned for the Methodist church of Malden, Palenville, and Quarryville. The Rev. D. Clark Allen is the pastor of the church. It was announced that the place of meetings would alternate among the churches, with the Malden Church serving as host for the first meeting scheduled for Sunday night, Jan. 17.

Each week the congregation of the host church will get together at 8 p. m. to enjoy a covered dish supper. A social evening will then follow for all ages at 7 p. m. A Bible study class is planned for all ages at 7:30 p. m. At 8 p. m. a combined service of worship for the congregations of all three churches will take place. All other interested people are cordially invited. Arrangements for transportation have been made available to all of these services.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Back in the 1890's Judge Clearwater had Diedrick Versteeg, translator of the Holland Society, translate then recently restored Dutch records of Ulster county. The Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal of Thursday, March 19, 1896, carried an article of interesting items by Mr. Versteeg. For instance, one item which he found, was of early spring of 1662 which he tells in the following manner: "There existed at the time no restaurant at Wiltwyck, and bachelors or strangers could not always be accommodated with meals, it seems, as it was shown by a suit of Hester Donsens who may have been the wife of Berent Gervetson against Hey Offersen. The woman accused Hey of stealing food and other things of her. The taking of the food at night, by Hey, was defended by him, saying, 'because she would not give me food, and I was working for her. I tried to procure it, as there is little or no food for sale here.' That no theft was meant was shown later on by the decision of the court, which absolutely exonerated Hey."

Another item read in part: "Even the beatings administered to pigs gave rise to law suits, and at one time was caused that a man had to pay six guilders fine for the poor, not, however, for beating said noisy animal, but for having said that, somebody else had done it; slander." To show how fair they tried to be, "Albert Gysbertsen, one of the judges, accused Aert Martensen Donsen of having killed his pig. Defendant admitted having killed a pig, and the court sentenced him to deposit with the court six schepel of wheat, to be paid to the party able to prove that the killed pig belonged to him."

To those who wish to learn more about the wage scale and rents, etc., back in the good old 1660's in Wiltwyck, Mr. Versteeg writes: "From a suit entered Nov. 28, we learn that the annual wages of a young farm laborer amounted to 15 schepels of wheat, or about 90 guilders, or about 75 cents American money per week. A suit for rent brought about this time, shows that the rent paid for a certain class of dwellings in Wiltwyck only amounted to four guilders, or $1.60 per month."

It is also said that up to Tuesday, Feb. 6, 1663, justice had been done in Wiltwyck; no charges were to be paid, but on the above date the magistrates decided that the parties suing each other shall pay 36 stivers, to be advanced by the complainant, at the expense of the loser of the suit. This money was to pay the rent of the place where the ordinary sessions of the court took place." But even then, "a majority of commissioners resolved June 5, 1663, that the court shall not sit any more until there be four or five cases, and if necessary, for the conveniences of the residents, shall sit every week. The reason being, that in the absence of a village hall, the rent for the room cannot be met."

After the terrible Indian massacre of June 1663 many villagers were called in court for breaking various rules of security. For in-

Mediation Stalls
On Air Line Pay

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—A mediation official says his office "has just about exhausted every effort" to resolve the wage dispute between American Airlines and the CIO Transport Workers Union's Air Transport Division.

Federal Mediator Frank Switzer, after conferring separately with both sides all day yesterday, said:

"The negotiators definitely broke off today. I don't know what further action either side will take. There are no contemplated future meetings planned."

The union has demanded a 23-cent hourly wage boost for some 6,000 maintenance and ground personnel whose average earnings now range from $1.45 to $2.42.

A company spokesman said the airline has offered a wage raise of 12 cents an hour and will arbitrate if the union accepts a new contract clause specifically defining certain jobs.

A union spokesman said strike strategy meetings had been held throughout the airline's 60 U. S. bases and that "our locals are prepared to take strike action at a moment's notice."

But the spokesman gave no indication when such "notice" might come.

Bomb Speculation

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Ears pricked up in the Senate yesterday when Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, referred in a speech to a "third type" of bomb. Wiley used the term while speaking for legislation to authorize U. S. participation with Canada in construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway. Questioned later, Wiley said his remark was based on newspaper stories speculating on "the A-bomb and the H-bomb and the other bomb." There has been speculation about possible development of a cobalt bomb even more destructive than the atomic or hydrogen bombs.

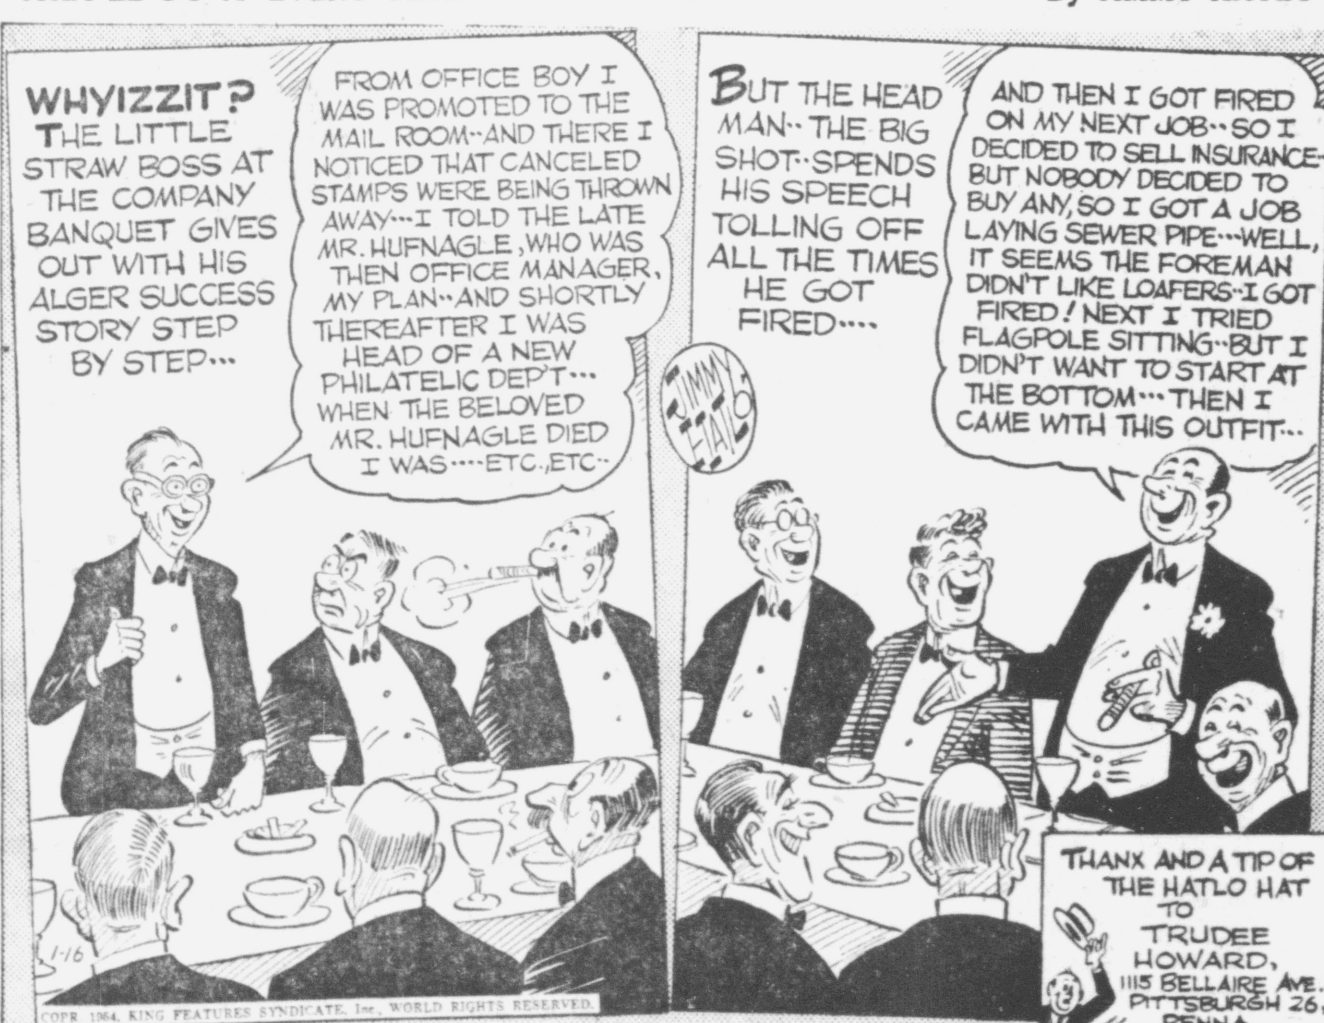

Accord Health Clinic

A child health conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Health Center in Accord Jan. 27 from 1-3 p. m. These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

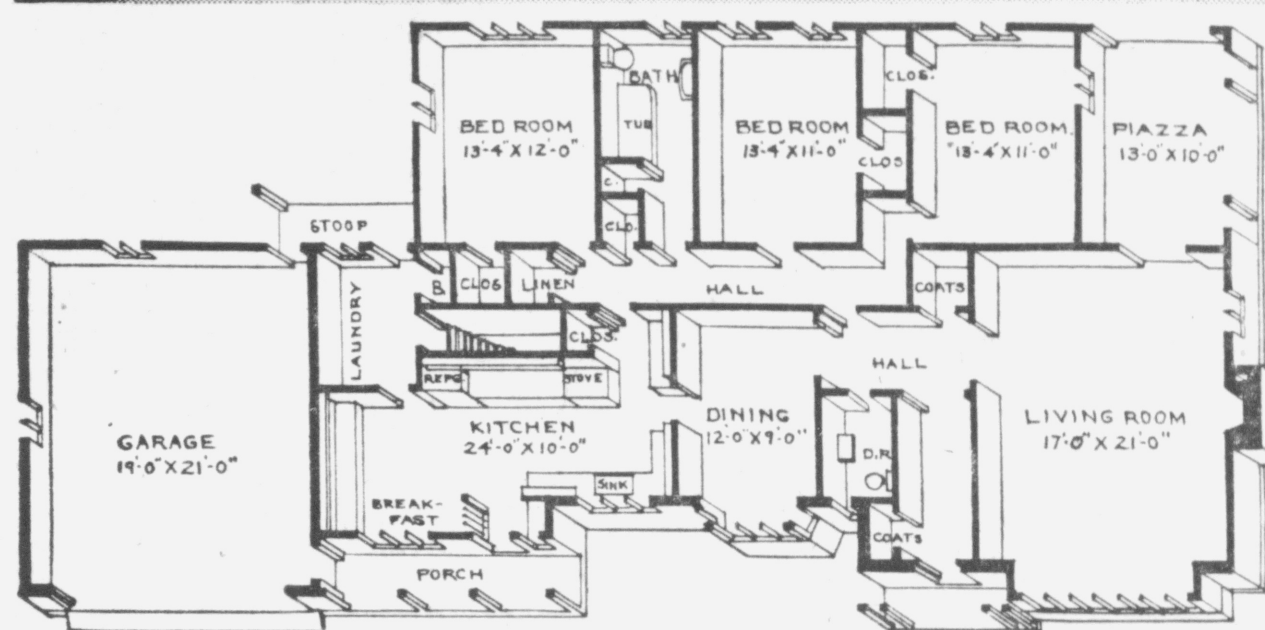

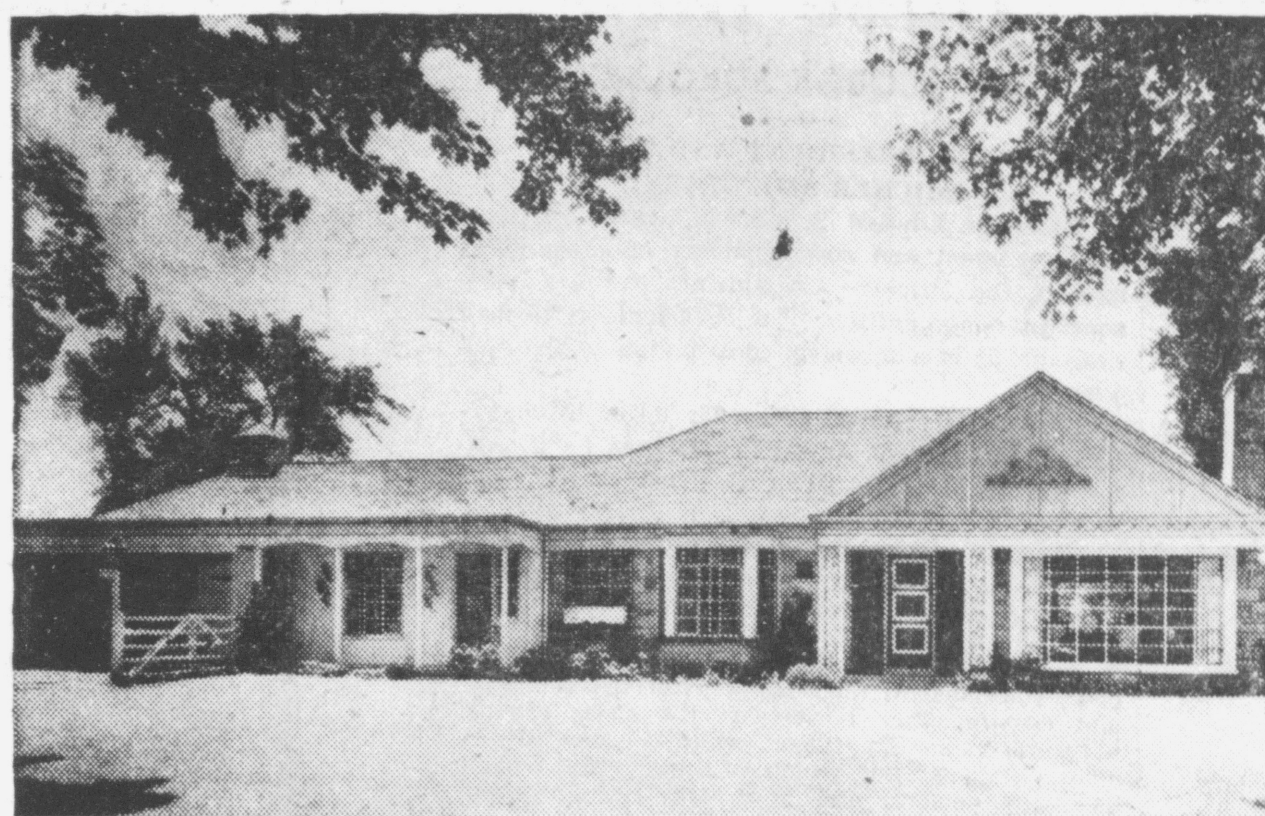

stance, one rule was that no one was to go outside the 'palisades' without permission or a guard under penalty of 25 guilders, fine. The Indians had not only caused damage to property but also wolves were able to get to the cattle and other farm yard animals. Twelve guilders in sewan was paid for anyone bringing in a dead she-wolf, and 18 guilders for a dead she-wolf. Every householder had to contribute to this fund. I see mention of cows and pigs but no chickens or chickens.

The ANNAPOLIS

Designed for Rural
Suburban Site

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Three
Baths One
Closets Six
Cubage 45,200 ft.
Dimensions 83' x 36'

Large and picturesque, "The Annapolis," presented today by the Home-of-the-Week Plan Service, will look most appealing in a suburban or rural location.

Fieldstone and wood, combined as in the accompanying illustration, makes an especially attractive and appropriate finish for the exterior of this eight-room house. Breaks in the roof line, the wide outside chimney, the little porch-ways and the large window areas all contribute to the distinctive appearance of "The Annapolis."

Needs Space

Measuring 83 by 36 feet this spacious one-story home has a total cubage of 45,200 feet. At least a 105-foot lot would be required for this house and attached garage. To give an overall appearance of spaciousness, to conform with the spacious appearance of the house itself, "The Annapolis" should be situated a good distance from the road with ample land on either side.

Inside this well planned modern home, the kitchen, dining room and living room are in the front part of the house.

Thus the bedrooms are in the rear—for more peace and quiet. The large, well-lighted breakfast room, actually a part of the all-modern kitchen, is so roomy and pleasant that you'll enjoy serving many of your family's meals in this area.

Two Lavatories

Also opening off the kitchen is the laundry. Bright and cheerful, the laundry has a door in its back wall to provide ready access to the back yard.

Another feature indicative of the good planning of "The Annapolis" is the inclusion of both a regular bathroom—located near the bedrooms and a dressing room—near the dining and living rooms. When entertaining, and during that inevitable morning rush, you'll especially appreciate these two lavatories.

Storage, too, presents no problem for the family that decides to call "The Annapolis" their home. Throughout the house there are ten conveniently located, good-sized closets; these include a large linen closet and a broom closet.

Porch Convertible

If you want an extra room you can easily have the porch in back of the living room made into one. This porch could also be used as a summer dining room. Should you decide to let it stay a porch you can enclose it with glass or screening.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Plan a Playroom
In Two-Car Garage

If you have a two-car garage and are using only half of it, as is the case with many home owners today, here's a suggestion for a worthwhile project this spring or summer.

Put up a partition in the center and convert the unused portion of the garage into a playroom or workshop.

Framing members of 2x4s can be installed without too much difficulty, provided you are reasonably handy with a hammer and a saw. To form the partition proper, simply nail insulating building board to the framing. The material comes in large sheets which are easy to handle, cut and apply. An attractive and economical finish for the other walls of the set-off area also can be obtained by applying the sheets over the studding.

Air-Cooling System

A Long Island, N. Y., builder is offering to include a summer air-cooling system in his new houses, for $750 additional. His homes, now being built in Merick, are priced at $12,999. A principle similar to that of a gas refrigerator is used to cool the entire house, according to the builder, with cold air blown through the same ducts that are used by the heating system.

When Water Is Needed

Most vegetables will droop in the hot sun, even soon after a rain, and if they are upright and crisp the next morning, they do not need water. But when they are wilted in the morning, soak the soil.

Remove Rose Leaves

Remove the leaves on the lower part of the rose stem because they decay in water and promote the growth of bacteria which plug up the tubes and cause the flowers to wilt for lack of water.

SCIENCE AND HUMAN BEHAVIOR

Scientists meeting in Boston recently felt compelled to digest some rather unflattering findings:

That in business and in the rearing and educating of children, unscientific ways of training often achieve better results than scientific methods.

That nonscientists frequently do a better job than scientists in teaching people how to live and improve their lot in life.

This isn't easy stuff for the psychologists and other specialists to swallow.

For instance, they have found that many of our most successful businessmen ought—by their scientific tests—to have failed long ago. Conversely, other studies show that men who pass their leadership tests with high scores often do not attract business managers.

The scientists' somewhat sad conclusion was that the best way to pick a man for top business leadership is to ask his boss how good he is.

Some of those who make the most effective leaders haven't had any specific leadership training at all. On the other hand, the savants learned that carefully charted college educations frequently "breed leadership out of the men."

As if this bafflement were not enough, they have discovered also that lots of children appear to learn a good deal more from hit-and-miss outside activities than they do from school. And "unscientific" mothers who fondle their offspring get better results than mothers who cling to the rules of science.

In the face of these findings, the scientists evidently showed no particular humility. They continued to insist that this country and the world will be better places if they take the scholars' advice and use their measuring rods.

Certainly no case can fairly be made for abandoning the scientific approach to human behavior.

What the scientists have learned does not disprove the value of scientific knowledge and techniques. But it does suggest that their work in the human field has not gone nearly far enough.

Obviously they have not learned yet how to calculate the true leadership factors, either in business or any other realm of endeavor. Their tests seem too concerned with mechanical, statistical and surface measurements of ability. They have not found nor discovered how to tap the inner springs of power and resourcefulness that make for genuine success.

By the same token, they have not yet figured out the real key to the successful imparting of knowledge. When they do, they will understand why hit-or-miss extra-curricular doings often surpass formalized training in educational effectiveness, and why students studying via television at Western Reserve University outstripped those taught on the campus.

There's nothing wrong with the scientific method. It's simply that, in its application to human behavior, it is still in its infancy.

The fellow who is always fed up with his work had better pipe down and learn to enjoy it. One day he may go hungry without it.

VALUABLE AMERICAN

One of the few still living active military heads in World War I recently celebrated his 89th birthday. This is General Peyton C. March chief of staff in World War I, a post corresponding to General George C. Marshall's in the last war.

The army organization at Washington was extremely leisurely in the days before March. The general staff went home early, and never worked nights or Sundays. March, a lieutenant-colonel appointed chief on General Pershing's recommendation, changed all that. Without the efficient body of staff officers whom he brought together and organized, the first world war might not have been won as quickly as it was.

For his services March won the Distinguished Service Medal and a four-star gen-

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE PRESIDENT AND THE BRICKER AMENDMENT

Professor Edward S. Corwin, learned student of government and now organizer of a campaign against the Bricker Amendment, wrote a book some years ago entitled "The President—Office and Powers." It is a scholarly contribution to the subject.

So when I received a circular letter in opposition to the Bricker Amendment signed by Professor Corwin, I seized upon his book as an index to what the Professor thinks on the subject. As regards the constitutional stipulations concerning the foreign policies and relations of the United States, Professor Corwin wrote:

"... What the Constitution does, and all that it does, is to confer upon the President certain powers capable of affecting our foreign relations, and certain other powers of the same general nature upon the Senate, and still other such powers upon Congress; but which of these organs shall have the decisive and final voice in determining the course of the American nation is left for events to resolve.

"All of which amounts to saying that the Constitution, considered only for its affirmative grants of powers which are capable of affecting the issue, is an invitation to struggle for the privilege of directing American foreign policy.

"What the Bricker Amendment seeks to do is to eliminate this particular struggle, which often becomes unseemly, by clarifying the authority of Congress and the authority of the President. Such a clarification is necessary after the amazing and tragic performances of our Presidents at the Tehran, Cairo, Yalta and Potsdam conferences which brought upon us the state of permanent war.

Professor Corwin, anticipating one phase of the Bricker Amendment by many years, wrote:

"Of course, when it comes to legislation which would be capable of tying his (the President's) hands because of his constitutional obligation in respect to law enforcement, a President has usually an effective weapon of defense for his policies in his veto power. The trouble is that an act which was put on the statute books with the approval of a predecessor, or even with his own approval, may later turn out to be seriously cramping. Thus it was that President Wilson found it necessary early in 1914, when he was being subjected to strong pressure from Great Britain on account of his Mexican policy, to go before Congress and urge repeal of the Panama Tolls Act of 1911.

"I ask this of you in support of the foreign policy of the Administration. I shall not know how to deal with other matters of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence if you do not grant it to me in ungrudging measure."

"No more striking acknowledgment has ever been made by a President of the actual power of Congress in the foreign-relations field."

It is now clear that while Woodrow Wilson ran in 1916 on the slogan, "He Kept Us Out of War," he was already in 1914 laying the foundation for getting us into war in the event that Great Britain was in danger of defeat. Congress was never informed of Woodrow Wilson's covert negotiations nor the efforts of Walter Hines Page, our ambassador to the Court of St. James's, to support one side against the other in a war in which the Americans had no cause. The American people actually believed that Woodrow Wilson was keeping this nation out of war.

Congress did, on March 4, 1913, pass a rider to the Appropriations Act forbidding the President to "extend or accept any invitation to participate in any international congress, conference, or like event without specific authorization to do so."

To this caveat, Professor Corwin remarks sagely: "Shades of Cairo, Tehran, Yalta, Potsdam."

It would seem that one who has written page after page about the confusion that has arisen in our history because the powers of the President and of Congress in foreign relations have not been precisely defined, would favor a measure that does define those authorities precisely. Were his position that the authority over foreign relations be exclusively the President's, it would be preferable to the present confusion. But then we should have to reorganize the American Government on a Fascistic basis, making of our President a dictator, even in a domestic affairs, as foreign relations and domestic affairs are today inseparable.

Is there then no alternative to confusion or Fascism? The Bricker Amendment offers such an alternative within the tradition of the American people.

MORE ABOUT CHANGE OF LIFE IN MEN
I have written before about change of life in men (the male climacteric) and how it affects the personality of the individual. He becomes irritable, impatient, and may change in his attitude in the home. With these personality changes there may not be for months or years any change in his sex life.

In Geriatrics, Dr. Max Goldzieher, Goldwater Memorial Hospital, New York City, and Joseph A. Goldzieher, New York Medical College, state that progressive deficiency of the testes in man first causes change in his body structure and in his circulatory system (heart and blood vessel) and only secondarily producing sexual effects, resulting in a syndrome (group of symptoms) in the middle-aged and elderly male comparable to the female climacteric.

The group of symptoms resembles the female climacteric in the variability of symptoms which may be slight or severe, short-lived or prolonged. Irritability, insomnia, personality changes and nuchal (back of neck) aches are more common with men whereas hot flashes, rapid heart beat, palpitation and general nervousness are more common with women. Nervousness is the commonest symptom for either sex.

The Last Remnant of a Once-Proud Heritage

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington—(NEA)—A $500-million military-assistance program for Japan, continued military assistance for Korea, determination of the active duty strength of the U. S. armed forces, extension of the President's authority to call up the reserves and several measures affecting the pay, allowances and dependents' benefits for American servicemen are among the more important military measures before the new Congress.

At the present time the legally authorized strength of the U. S. military establishment is set at 2,005,000 men maximum. This was waived by Congress under the Korean emergency until July 30, 1954. Under this waiver the strength has been built up to approximately 3,500,000.

It would of course be impossible to cut the force by 1,500,000 men in the next seven months. The Department of Defense is therefore recommending that the 2,005,000 maximum be waived until July 30, 1958. This would give the Army, Navy and Air Force time to reorganize in an orderly manner under the "new look" appraisal of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in which the air would be built up and the land and sea arms somewhat reduced.

The Truman administration, through Defense Manpower Director Anna Rosenberg, on the last day in office, sent Congress a recommendation for a straight eight per cent military pay increase. Congress took no action in 1953. But if the armed forces can be reduced by 330,000 men through reorganization, money would be made available for this pay increase, on a budget the same size as this year's.

Pay Increase Figured
In addition to the straight eight per cent pay increase, Rep. James

E. Van Zandt has proposed a "cost-of-living" increase for the armed forces. Both figure out to about the same total cost of $500 million. What, if anything, is recommended to Congress is being held up for final Presidential decision.

Now under study by the Budget Bureau is a proposal to equalize the disability benefits of the regular and reserve forces. These benefits now vary as much as $100 to $400 a month for officers and men.

In 1939 the regulars had their own benefit plan. To protect it, they urged the reserves and temporary duty service personnel be given federal employee compensation benefits. Then along came the social security act amendments. The result was that the reserves now get higher benefits than the regulars, and the regulars are peeved.

What's sought now is a benefit equalization bill that will remove the worst, if not all, of the inequities.

In something of the same category is a proposed survivors' benefits bill for members of the armed forces. This issue was highlighted by disclosures that Adm. Forrest Sherman's widow would receive only $75 a month under existing law.

The government now has its national service life insurance program for the armed forces. But actuarial tables have not been worked out for men on active duty and no determinations have been made on whether the government should pay peacetime benefits in time of emergency.

Committees Will Be Busy
A number of other Department of Defense legislative measures will keep the Congressional Armed Services Committees busy all year.

The President's authority to call up all ready reserves, other than doctors, expired on July 1, and must be renewed. The present ceiling of 1,500,000 reserves may have to be lifted.

The contract authority of the armed services under the First War Powers act has been extended on a year-to-year basis in the past. Department of Defense wants it continued. A side issue here is Sen. Edward Tyng's amendment to permit this authority to be used for the relief of small business. It has never been used.

The Missing Persons act expires Feb. 1, 1954. Some 2500 Korean casualties will not have been officially declared dead by this time. Temporary authority to continue pay and allotments of missing persons is considered necessary.

Hanging over from the last session of Congress are a number of matters on which Department of Defense would like to get action. They include: Creation of an Air Force Academy; supply of equipment for Civil Air Patrol; settlement of claims for acts of U. S. military personnel overseas, and relief of disbursing officers whose accounts are out of balance, for which there has been no authority since 1948. Increasing the authority to settle foreign claims against the U. S. armed services from the present $5000 limit to $15,000.

Still before the Budget Bureau are proposals for such new legislation as this: A uniform ration bill for the three armed services, made necessary by Department of Defense unification. Renewal of the Wherry amendment to the Federal Housing act, expiring June 30, to facilitate housing construction at defense posts. Exemption from the Fair Labor Standards act for employees of the Defense establishment in U. S. territories and possessions.

SCIENCE AND HUMAN BEHAVIOR
Scientists meeting in Boston recently felt compelled to digest some rather unflattering findings:
That in business and in the rearing and educating of children, unscientific ways of training often achieve better results than scientific methods.
That nonscientists frequently do a better job than scientists in teaching people how to live and improve their lot in life.
This isn't easy stuff for the psychologists and other specialists to swallow.
For instance, they have found that many of our most successful businessmen ought—by their scientific tests—to have failed long ago. Conversely, other studies show that men who pass their leadership tests with high scores often do not attract business managers.
The scientists' somewhat sad conclusion was that the best way to pick a man for top business leadership is to ask his boss how good he is.
Some of those who make the most effective leaders haven't had any specific leadership training at all. On the other hand, the savants learned that carefully charted college educations frequently "breed leadership out of the men."
As if this bafflement were not enough, they have discovered also that lots of children appear to learn a good deal more from hit-and-miss outside activities than they do from school. And "unscientific" mothers who fondle their offspring get better results than mothers who cling to the rules of science.
In the face of these findings, the scientists evidently showed no particular humility. They continued to insist that this country and the world will be better places if they take the scholars' advice and use their measuring rods.
Certainly no case can fairly be made for abandoning the scientific approach to human behavior.
What the scientists have learned does not disprove the value of scientific knowledge and techniques. But it does suggest that their work in the human field has not gone nearly far enough.
Obviously they have not learned yet how to calculate the true leadership factors, either in business or any other realm of endeavor. Their tests seem too concerned with mechanical, statistical and surface measurements of ability. They have not found nor discovered how to tap the inner springs of power and resourcefulness that make for genuine success.
By the same token, they have not yet figured out the real key to the successful imparting of knowledge. When they do, they will understand why hit-or-miss extra-curricular doings often surpass formalized training in educational effectiveness, and why students studying via television at Western Reserve University outstripped those taught on the campus.
There's nothing wrong with the scientific method. It's simply that, in its application to human behavior, it is still in its infancy.
The fellow who is always fed up with his work had better pipe down and learn to enjoy it. One day he may go hungry without it.

VALUABLE AMERICAN

One of the few still living active military heads in World War I recently celebrated his 89th birthday. This is General Peyton C. March chief of staff in World War I, a post corresponding to General George C. Marshall's in the last war.
The army organization at Washington was extremely leisurely in the days before March. The general staff went home early, and never worked nights or Sundays. March, a lieutenant-colonel appointed chief on General Pershing's recommendation, changed all that. Without the efficient body of staff officers whom he brought together and organized, the first world war might not have been won as quickly as it was.
For his services March won the Distinguished Service Medal and a four-star gen-

THE PRESIDENT AND THE BRICKER AMENDMENT

Professor Edward S. Corwin, learned student of government and now organizer of a campaign against the Bricker Amendment, wrote a book some years ago entitled "The President—Office and Powers." It is a scholarly contribution to the subject.
So when I received a circular letter in opposition to the Bricker Amendment signed by Professor Corwin, I seized upon his book as an index to what the Professor thinks on the subject. As regards the constitutional stipulations concerning the foreign policies and relations of the United States, Professor Corwin wrote:
" . . . What the Constitution does, and all that it does, is to confer upon the President certain powers capable of affecting our foreign relations, and certain other powers of the same general nature upon Congress; but which of these organs shall have the decisive and final voice in determining the course of the American nation is left for events to resolve."
"All of which amounts to saying that the Constitution, considered only for its affirmative grants of powers which are capable of affecting the issue, is an invitation to struggle for the privilege of directing American foreign policy. . . ."
What the Bricker Amendment seeks to do is to eliminate this particular struggle, which often becomes unseemly, by clarifying the authority of Congress and the authority of the President. Such a clarification is necessary after the amazing and tragic performances of our Presidents at the Tehran, Cairo, Yalta and Potsdam conferences which brought upon us the state of permanent war.
Professor Corwin, anticipating one phase of the Bricker Amendment by many years, wrote:
"Of course, when it comes to legislation which would be capable of tying the (President's) hands because of his constitutional obligation in respect to law enforcement, a President has usually an effective weapon of defense for his policies in his veto power. The trouble is that an act which was put on the statute books with the approval of a predecessor, or even with his own approval, may later turn out to be seriously cramping. Thus it was that President Wilson found it necessary early in 1914, when he was being subjected to strong pressure from Great Britain on account of his Mexican policy, to go before Congress and urge repeal of the Panama Tolls Act of 1911."
"I ask this of you in support of the foreign policy of the Administration. I shall not know how to deal with other matters of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence if you do not grant it to me in ungrudging measure."
"No more striking acknowledgment has ever been made by a President of the actual power of Congress in the foreign-relations field."
It is now clear that while Woodrow Wilson ran in 1916 on the slogan, "He Kept Us Out of War," he was already in 1914 laying the foundation for getting us into war in the event that Great Britain was in danger of defeat. Congress was never informed of Woodrow Wilson's covert negotiations nor the efforts of Walter Hines Page, our ambassador to the Court of St. James's, to support one side against the other in a war in which the Americans had no cause. The American people actually believed that Woodrow Wilson was keeping this nation out of war.
Congress did, on March 4, 1913, pass a rider to the Appropriations Act forbidding the President to "extend or accept any invitation to participate in any international conference, or like event without specific authorization to do so."
To this caveat, Professor Corwin remarks sagely: "Shades of Cairo, Tehran, Yalta, Potsdam!"
It would seem that one who has written page after page about the confusion that has arisen in our history because of the powers of the President and Congress in foreign relations have not been precisely defined, would favor a measure that does define those authorities precisely. Were his position that the authority over foreign relations be exclusively the President's, it would be preferable to the present confusion. But then we should have to reorganize the American Government on a Fascistic basis, making of our President a dictator, even in a domestic affairs, as foreign relations and domestic affairs are today inseparable.
There, there, no need to confusion or Fascism? The Bricker Amendment offers such an alternative within the tradition of the American people.

That Body of Yours

MORE ABOUT CHANGE OF LIFE IN MEN

I have written before about change of life in men (the male climacteric) and how it affects the personality of the individual. He becomes irritable, impatient, and may change in his attitude in the home. With these personality changes there may not be for months or years any change in his sex life.
In Geriatrics, Dr. Max Goldzieher, Goldwater Memorial Hospital, New York City, and Joseph A. Goldzieher, New York Medical College, state that progressive deficiency of the testes in man first causes change in his body structure and in his circulatory system (heart and blood vessel) and only secondarily producing sexual effects, resulting in a syndrome (group of symptoms) in the middle-aged and elderly male comparable to the female climacteric.
"The group of symptoms resembles the female climacteric in the variability of symptoms which may be slight or severe, short-lived or prolonged. Irritability, insomnia, personality changes and nuchal (back of neck) aches are more common with men whereas hot flashes, rapid heart beat, palpitation and general aches and pains are more frequent with women. Nervousness is the commonest symptom for either sex."
There is a gradual, though not sudden, decline in sex strength which occurs in 75 per cent of men. The pituitary gland which has so much to do with general health—ACTH and cortisone—begins to gradually waste away as do the male sex glands. It is the decrease in the strength of the front part of the pituitary gland rather than in the male sex glands that causes most of the symptoms of the male climacteric.
Symptoms such as sweating and hot flashes sometimes occur in men but these symptoms are controlled by male sex gland treatment, just as treatment by female sex gland substance helps to control these symptoms during the female climacteric. The hot flashes and sweating are thus controlled in 100 per cent of cases, while palpitation, vertigo, pain in chest (angina pectoris) and chilliness are corrected in 80 to 92 per cent.
"Among metabolic (building up and wearing down of body tissues) symptoms, tiredness, weight loss, weakness and signs of enlargement of the prostate gland are controlled in 100 per cent. Muscular and central nervous system complaints respond in 60 to 80 per cent."
Sometimes many of the symptoms of the male climacteric may appear in neurotic or nervous individuals which can be determined by various tests in which the drug testosterone (sex extract) is used alternately with a placebo (a pill or injection containing no sex extract).

The Last Remnant of a Once-Proud Heritage

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—A $500-million military-assistance program for Japan, continued military assistance for Korea, determination of the active duty strength of the U. S. armed forces, extension of the President's authority to call up the reserves and several measures affecting the pay, allowances and dependents' benefits for American servicemen are among the more important military measures before the new Congress.
At the present time the legally authorized strength of the U. S. military establishment is set at 2,005,000 men maximum. This was waived by Congress under the Korean emergency until July 30, 1954. Under this waiver the strength has been built up to approximately 3,500,000.
It would of course be impossible to cut the force by 1,500,000 men in the next seven months. The Department of Defense is therefore recommending that the 2,005,000 maximum be waived until July 30, 1958. This would give the Army, Navy and Air Force time to reorganize in an orderly manner under the "new look" appraisal of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in which the air arm would be built up and the land and sea arms somewhat reduced.
The Truman administration, through Defense Manpower Director Anna Rosenberg, on the last day in office, sent Congress a recommendation for a straight eight per cent military pay increase. Congress took no action in 1953. But if the armed forces can be reduced by 330,000 men through reorganization, money would be made available for the same pay increase, on a budget the same size as this year's.
Pay Increase Figured
In addition to the straight eight per cent pay increase, Rep. James

E. Van Zandt has proposed a "cost-of-living" increase for the armed forces. Both figure out to about the same total cost of $500 million. What, if anything, is recommended to Congress is being held up for final Presidential decision.

Now under study by the Budget Bureau is a proposal to equalize the disability benefits of the regular and reserve forces. These benefits now vary as much as $100 to $400 a month for officers and men.

In 1939 the regulars had their own benefit plan. To protect it, they urged the reserves and temporary duty service personnel be given federal employee compensation benefits. Then along came the social security act amendments. The result was that the reserves now get higher benefits than the regulars, and the regulars are peeved.

What's sought now is a benefit equalization bill that will remove the worst, if not all, of the inequities.

In something of the same category is a proposed survivors' benefits bill for members of the armed forces. This issue was highlighted by disclosures that Adm. Forrest Sherman's widow would receive only $75 a month under existing law.

The government now has its national service life insurance program for the armed forces. But actuarial tables have not been worked out for men on active duty and no determinations have been made on whether the government should pay peacetime benefits in time of emergency.

Committees Will Be Busy
A number of other Department of Defense legislative measures will keep the Congressional Armed Services Committees busy all year.

The President's authority to call up all ready reserves, other than doctors, expired on July 1, and must be renewed. The present ceiling of 1,500,000 reserves may have to be lifted.

The contract authority of the armed services under the First War Powers act has been extended on a year-to-year basis in the past. Department of Defense would like to get action here is Sen. Edward J. Thye's amendment to permit this authority to be used for the relief of small business. It has never been used.

The Missing Persons act expires Feb. 1, 1954. Some 2500 Korean casualties will not have been officially declared dead by this time. Temporary authority to continue pay and allotments of missing persons is considered necessary.

Hanging over from the last session of Congress are a number of matters on which Department of Defense would like to get action. They include: Creation of an Air Force Academy; supply of equipment for Civil Air Patrol; settlement of claims for acts of U. S. military personnel overseas, and relief of disbursing officers whose accounts are out of balance, for which there has been no authority since 1948. Increasing the authority to settle foreign claims against the U. S. armed services from the present $500 limit to $15,000.

Still before the Budget Bureau are proposals for such new legislation as this: A uniform ration bill for the three armed services, made necessary by Department of Defense unification. Renewal of the Wherry amendment to the Federal Housing act expiring June 30, to facilitate housing construction at defense posts. Exemption from the Fair Labor Standards act for employees of the Defense establishment in U. S. territories and possessions.

Two More Lovers

Dumfries, Scotland, Jan. 16 (AP)—Scotland had another young pair of runaway lovers today—both of them lacking the bankroll of Isabella Peano and Jimmy Goldsmith, their predecessors.

Johnny Minshul, 17, and Hazel Caster, 18, both of Peel Elmesmere, England, had to peel potatoes and feed hogs on a farm to earn their keep during the 15 days required to establish residence under Scottish law.

The law permits marriage at 16 without parental consent after the waiting period. But Hazel's father has dispatched a "come home, all is forgiven" plea to the youngsters, who now are deliberating whether to get married here or do it up proper with their parents' blessing at home.

Y.; and Walter Henry O'Kane, 22, Roselle Park. A police alarm from New York's 15th precinct station said the car was stolen yesterday.

While Washington, D. C., schools still are segregated, the Negro statesman said, he particularly noted racial progress there in hotel accommodations, public swimming pools and employment agencies.

Skiers Favored, No Serious Skids Noted on Roads

Five to six inches of new snow fell in the area last night and early today.

Another banner weekend appeared in the making for Ulster county ski resorts.

Area highways were reported slippery but passable this morning. No serious accidents or unusual tie-ups were reported in the county, however.

One mishap reported in Woodstock Friday night involved an Ulster county highway department truck which rolled down a grade and broke a utility pole.

Roland H. Green, county superintendent of highways, said today one of the county's Ford dump trucks parked on a grade along Route 212 in the village of Woodstock started rolling when the emergency brake "slipped its ratchet."

Wires Torn Down

The driverless truck struck and broke a Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation pole, bringing down wires and ripping the service wires from the home of Bartow Matteson in the village, according to the report. No personal injuries were reported.

Repairs to the electric service were made by Central Hudson crews shortly after the accident occurred at 9:30 p. m. Meanwhile, Woodstock town constables routed traffic around the area over a lane near Deane's Restaurant.

Highway Superintendent Green said the truck was one of several being used Friday night to move snow that added to congestion along state highways through the villages of Woodstock and Rosendale.

Flows Clear Roads

The present snowfall, Green said, was about evenly distributed throughout the county. No specific complaints of unusual difficulties in any one section had been received up to mid-morning today at the highway department office.

Flows were disrupted this morning at clear state and county highways, Green said. Some salt trucks were already at work earlier this morning.

Ski resorts, reported "jammed full" last weekend, expected a repeat performance today and tonight. Crowds began arriving last night, it was reported at the Simpson Memorial Ski Slope in Phoenicia, and similar experiences were indicated at other slopes and ski centers in the county. The six inches of new snow during the night made ski conditions "perfect," it was reported at the Simpson Slope. Resort operators, however, admitted they were keeping an anxious watch on rising temperatures, hoping the snow would not turn to rain as had been forecast in some quarters.

Eight Inches Predicted

Albany, Jan. 16 (AP)—Winter dumped a new load of snow on eastern New York today, just as the state had plowed through an earlier blizzard.

The storm threatened eight inches on the Hudson valley and the Catskill mountain area, as it blew up from West Virginia and Pennsylvania. The Weather Bureau here said the heaviest fall would be in the Catskill mountain area and in an area between Bear Mountain and Albany. A lighter fall—about two or three inches—was forecast for the Mohawk valley and the eastern Adirondacks.

Lengthy Opposition

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—It took Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md.) 34,000 words and over five hours to tell the Senate why he thinks the United States should not help build the St. Lawrence Seaway. Among his other arguments, Butler said yesterday the project would hurt the railroad, coal industry and eastern and Gulf coast ports. He said "no consequence" in national defense; and has no reasonable prospect of paying for itself out of shipping tolls. Butler said, furthermore, that Canada doesn't want this country to join in the project.

Borders Closed

Mexico City, Jan. 16 (AP)—Mexico closed its borders today to farm workers seeking jobs in the southwestern United States. The action was in retaliation against a U. S. "stop gap" plan for admitting the workers. In Washington, U. S. State Department sources said that despite the sharp Mexican opposition, the United States would go ahead with its new temporary plan. It calls for the Labor Department to set up stations on the U. S.-Mexican agreement which expired at midnight last night, the Mexican government did the recruiting in the interior and sent the laborers to the border for admission. The United States view was that it will be up to Mexico to patrol its lengthy border if it wants to prevent all crossings.

Looks Good to Bush

Percy Bush, supervisor of the town of Ulster, who was present at Friday's hearing, noted that the proposal will also affect residents in his township. He said as far as he knows it will not be necessary for the project to take any residences with possible exception of one or two but that it will take some farmland.

Bush said he believes it is a step in the right direction and will not seriously affect any of the residents. He noted much of the farmland that would be involved has already been cut up by the Thruway construction.

I studied it, looks like a really good plan.

'Bandit' Is Added

Taipei, Formosa, Jan. 16 (AP)—An American news magazine (Newsweek) carrying on its cover a picture of Red China's boss Hao Tse-tung is on sale in this capital of Nationalist China. But across Mao's face on each copy has been stamped the word "bandit."

Historic Warehouses Burn

Smoke envelops the Brooklyn, New York city, waterfront, Jan. 15, as four warehouses, once used as ammunition depots in the Civil War, go up in flames. A freighter finds its berth alongside the burning buildings a precarious one in this air view of the blaze which consumed 3,800 television sets, the modern contents of three of the historic structures. Twenty-one firemen were injured, most of them by falling debris, when a wall gave way, and damage was estimated at three million dollars.

Police Hunting Thieves For $340,000 in Gems

Detroit, Jan. 16 (AP)—Police said today professional diamond thieves, who may have trailed their victim from New York, were being sought in a reported $340,000 gem holdup here yesterday.

"It seems obvious those two men knew exactly what the salesman was carrying and when he would have the jewelry in his room," said Inspector Carl Falk of the holdup bureau.

Anthony Seaton, president of Antoville Galleries of New York and a jewelry salesman, reported the holdup and said he had a "feeling" he had been followed at the high-end department office.

Today said the gems were worth $340,000 on the retail market.

He said only two flurries, both old friends knew of his presence here. He said he had played cards with them since his arrival Monday, and described both as prospective customers.

Seaton said the diamond pieces belonged to Harry Winston, a New York collector.

The pistol-packing bandits got 11 pieces, Seaton said. He had left seven, worth $150,000, in the hotel safe.

Bound and gagged, Seaton said he managed to loosen his bonds sufficiently to jiggle his telephone and attract an operator. A bell-boy was sent to investigate.

Feel Proposals

ent estimates would cost the state $2,777,500 and the city $261,000.

One merchant voiced a slight hesitation toward unqualified endorsement of the plan stating he would like to explore more fully the matter of whether the proposed interchange in the area bounded by Broadway, Albany avenue and East St. James street, might not have the effect of cutting the city in half.

Typical Comments

Typical of the comments heard today were these:

Adrian Kaplan, past president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce: "So far as I can see it is a very good plan. There may be some purely local things that have to be ironed out by further study."

George W. Schneider, local jeweler: "They (the plans) look good. They should eliminate the traffic problems in this end of the city." Schneider added that he was greatly impressed by the "tremendous amount of time and effort spent in gathering the data for the plans."

James L. Rowe, shoe store proprietor: "I haven't given it as much thought as I would like to but personally it looks to me like a very good long-range program."

Herman G. Rafalowsky, clothier: "The way it was laid out yesterday it seems it would be alright but I want to go into it further. It is possible (the proposed interchange) could split the city in half. I'll have to give it a little more consideration."

Considers Business Angle

Joseph Scott, clothier: "I really don't know too much about it yet. I suspect it is a good plan. Perhaps the state engineers should meet with the businessmen's associations to talk about its effect on business."

When the plan was presented on Friday, Mayor Stang promised immediate action will be taken on the study of the plan.

Bound copies of the proposal have been provided by the state for study by aldermen and supervisors.

The next meeting of the Common Council will be Wednesday, Jan. 20.

Looks Good to Bush

Percy Bush, supervisor of the town of Ulster, who was present at Friday's hearing, noted that the proposal will also affect residents in his township. He said as far as he knows it will not be necessary for the project to take any residences with possible exception of one or two but that it will take some farmland.

Bush said he believes it is a step in the right direction and will not seriously affect any of the residents. He noted much of the farmland that would be involved has already been cut up by the Thruway construction.

I studied it, looks like a really good plan.

Reds Trying . . . Snowfall Leaves Four Inches Here

An estimated four or five inches of snow fell last night in the city as sanding crews worked through the early morning hours.

The fall began about 1:30 a. m., it was reported by Edward Geschwinder, a member of one of the night crews.

According to the forecast from Albany the snow may turn into rain sometime today.

No accidents were reported to local police during the night and traffic was moving slowly in the city.

Geschwinder said BPW crews worked for 20 hours yesterday, plowing until noon, and picking up snow and sanding in the afternoon. Sanders were out last night.

Slashed by Bandit

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—A 29-year-old secretary for a jewelry manufacturing firm suffered a cut on the left arm yesterday when she attempted to shield herself from a knife-wielding bandit who robbed her of the company pay roll of between $500 and $600.

The young woman was Rita Damian of 34-40 78th street, Jackson Heights, Queens, a secretary employed by the manufacturing firm of E. K. Werthimer Company, with offices at 15 West 36th street. She held police she was returning from the Irving Trust Company office in the Empire State Building and was about to enter the lobby of her employer's building when a young Negro preceded her. When she got inside, the lobby was empty and the several elevators were at upper floors. The young man turned on her, a knife in his hand, and swung at her. She put up her left arm for protection and the knife slashed her wrist. She dropped the envelope and was about to flee. The bandit seized the envelope and fled.

Gigantic Snow Fight

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 16 (AP)—Police collared ten Yale men yesterday as they broke up a snowball brawl involving an estimated 1,500 college and high school students. A policeman suffered a slight injury, a truck driver went to a hospital with nervous prostration after a snowball broke a window on his vehicle. At least one student got a black eye and two blocks of a downtown street were barred to traffic. The snow was ideal for snowballing, a warm sun making it soft and easily packed. Today's uproar apparently just started spontaneously.

Two More Lovers

Dumfries, Scotland, Jan. 16 (AP)—Scotland had another young pair of runaway lovers today—but they lacked the bankroll of Isabela Patino and Jimmy Goldsmith, their predecessors. Johnny Minshul, 17, and Hazel Castor, 18, both of Port Ellesmere, England, had to peel potatoes and feed hogs on a farm to earn their keep during the 15 days required to establish residence under Scottish law. The law permits marriage at 16 without parental consent after the waiting period. But Hazel's father has dispatched a "come home, all is forgiven" plea to the youngsters, who now are deliberating whether to get married here or do it up proper with their parents' blessing at home.

Held for Car Theft

Somerville, N. J., Jan. 16 (AP)—Three youths were held here today on fugitive warrants charging them with stealing a car from a New York parking lot. Police said they were arrested last night after the car skidded into a ditch on icy Rt. 22 near here. The trio left the car, hitched a ride on a milk truck into Somerville and were picked up for questioning here. They were identified by police as Alex Sorenson, 18, of 40 Grace church street, Port Chester, N. Y.; John Francis Lavelle, 24, 3102 Linden place, Flushing, N. Y.; and Walter Henry O'Kane, 22, Roselle Park. A police alarm from New York's 15th precinct station said the car was stolen yesterday.

Sees Better Relations

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—United Nations official Dr. Ralph J. Bunche says he has noted improvements in race relations within the United States in the past few years. Appearing last night on a CBS television program (Ed Murrow Show) Bunche, principal director of the UN Department of Trusteeship, said numerous forms of discrimination seem to be disappearing. While Washington, D. C., schools still are segregated, the Negro statesman said, he particularly noted racial progress there in hotel accommodations, public swimming pools and employment agencies.

Blizzard Hits Wyoming

Helena, Mont., Jan. 16 (AP)—The season's first blizzard, its western flank trailing the Continental Divide, mushroomed southward across the plains states today while continuing to dump snow on hard-hit Montana and Wyoming. The forward edge of the cold front, laying on an east-west line through Wyoming, presented temperature variations of as much as 66 degrees between reporting points. Cut Bank, Mont., was numbed by -28 degree weather early today, while Cheyenne, Wyo., reported 38 degrees above zero.

Must Go as Civilians

Panmunjon, Jan. 16 (AP)—The UN command said tonight it will accept from the Indians 22,000 unrepatriated anti-Communist war prisoners—but not on India's condition that they remain prisoners. Gen. John H. Hull, UN command spokesman, said the UN command would accept the prisoners only if they were freed as civilians. Hull's letter was the UN answer to India's decision to turn back to India captors all unrepatriated war prisoners starting next Wednesday.

His View on Arms

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban said after an hour-long talk with Secretary of State Dulles yesterday "this is not a prudent or opportune moment" for the western powers to reinforce the armaments of Arab League nations. Eban made clear his government objects to sending arms to Arab League countries whether their border is "contiguous to Israel or not." He said all Arab League countries share in decisions "for hostility to Israel" regardless of their geographical location.

Sailors Plead Guilty

Baltimore, Jan. 16 (AP)—Two sailors stationed at Norfolk, Va., pleaded guilty yesterday to charges of robbing an East Baltimore Finance Company of $914. Held for the grand jury in $10,000 bail each after pleading guilty in Magistrate's Court were Albert L. Lamb, 19, of Whitestone, N. Y., and William R. Bell, 25, of Warrington, Fla. Skiers Favored, No Serious Skids Noted on Roads

Five to six inches of new snow fell in the area last night and early today.

Another banner weekend appeared in the making for Ulster county ski resorts.

Area highways were reported slippery but passable this morning. No serious accidents or unusual tie-ups were reported in the county, however.

One mishap reported in Woodstock Friday night involved an Ulster county highway department truck which rolled down a grade and broke a utility pole.

Roland H. Green, county superintendent of highways, said today one of the county's Ford dump trucks parked on a grade along Route 212 in the village of Woodstock started rolling when the emergency brake "slipped its ratchet."

Wires Torn Down

The driverless truck struck and broke a Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation pole, bringing down wires and ripping the service wires from the home of Bartow Matteson in the village, according to the report. No personal injuries were reported.

Repairs to the electric service were made by Central Hudson crews shortly after the accident occurred at 9:30 p. m. Meanwhile, Woodstock town constables routed traffic around the area over a lane near Deane's Restaurant.

Highway Superintendent Green said the truck was one of several being used Friday night to move snow from the highway to a collection along state highways through the villages of Woodstock and Rosendale.

Plows Clear Roads

The present snowfall, Green said, was about evenly distributed throughout the county. No specific complaints of unusual difficulties in any one section had been received. Plows were dispatched this morning to clear state and county highways, Green said. Some salt trucks were already at work earlier this morning.

Ski resorts, reported "jammed full of skiers," expected a big peak performance today and tomorrow. Crowds began arriving last night, it was reported at the Simpson Memorial Ski Slope in Phenicia, and similar experiences were indicated at other slopes and ski centers in the county. The six inches of new snow during the night made ski conditions "perfect," it was reported at the Simpson Slope. Resort operators, however, admitted they were keeping an anxious watch on rising temperatures, hoping the snow would not turn to rain as had been forecast in some quarters.

Eight Inches Predicted

Albany, Jan. 16 (AP)—Winter dumped a new load of snow on eastern New York today, just as the state had plowed through an earlier batch. The storm threatened to deposit up to eight inches on the Hudson valley and the Catskill mountain area, as it blew up from West Virginia and Pennsylvania. The Weather Bureau here said the heaviest fall would be in the Catskill mountain area and in an area between Bear Mountain and Albany. A lighter fall—about two or three inches—was forecast for the Mohawk valley and the eastern Adirondacks.

Lengthy Opposition

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—It took Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md.) 34,000 words and over five hours to tell the Senate why he thinks the United States should not help build the St. Lawrence Seaway. Among his arguments, Butler said yesterday the project would hurt the railroads, coal industry and eastern and gulf coast ports; would be of "no consequence" in national defense; and has no reasonable prospect of paying for itself out of shipping tolls. Butler said, further, that the St. Lawrence Seaway would be a "very good long-range program."

Herman G. Rafalowsky, clothier: "The way it was laid out yesterday it seems it would be alright but I want to go into it further. It is possible (the proposed interchange) could split the city in half. I'll have to give it a little more consideration."

Borders Closed

Mexico City, Jan. 16 (AP)—Mexico closed its borders today to farm workers seeking jobs in the southwestern United States. The action was in retaliation against a U. S. "stop gap" plan for admitting the workers. In Washington, U. S. State Department sources said that despite the sharp Mexican opposition, the United States would go ahead with its new temporary plan. It calls for the Labor Department to set up stations on the U. S.-Mexican agreement which expired at midnight last night, the Mexican government did the recruiting in the interior and sent the green card holders to the border for admission. The United States view was that it will be up to Mexico to patrol its lengthy border if it wants to prevent all crossings.

Percy Bush, supervisor of the town of Ulster, who was present at Friday's hearing, noted that the proposal will also affect residents in his township. He said as far as he knows it will not be necessary for the project to take any residences with possible exception of one or two but that it will take some farmland.

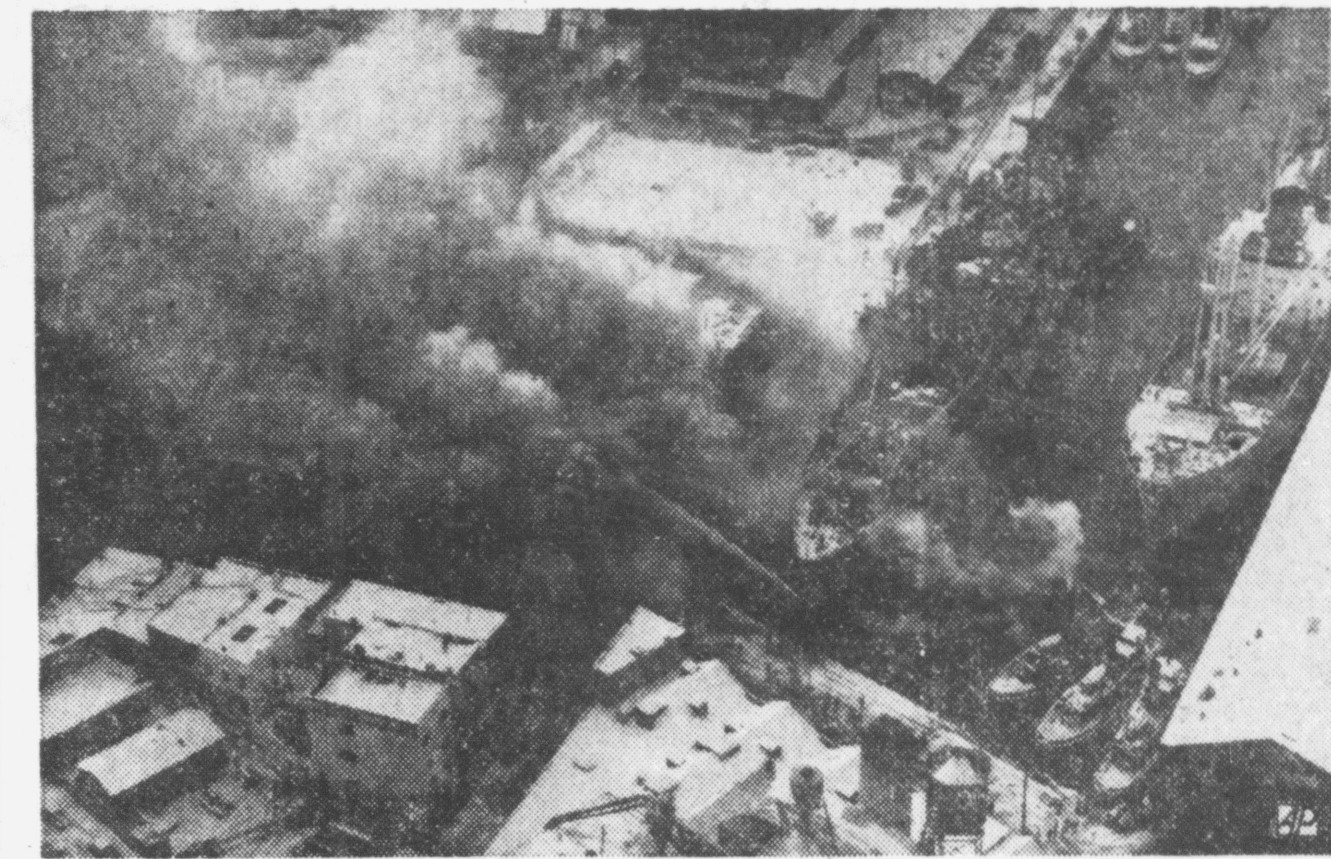

Bush said he believes it is a step in the right direction and will not seriously affect any of the residents. He noted much of the farmland that would be involved has already been cut up by the Thruway construction.

"I think," Bush said, "of what I studied it looks like a really good plan."

'Bandit' Is Added

Taipei, Formosa, Jan. 16 (AP)—An American news magazine (Newsweek) carrying on its cover a picture of Red China's boss Hao Tse-tung is on sale in this capital of Nationalist China. But across Mao's face on each copy has been stamped the word "bandit."

Historic Warehouses Burn

Smoke envelops the Brooklyn, New York city, waterfront, Jan. 15, as four warehouses, once used as ammunition depots in the Civil War, go up in flames. A freighter finds its berth alongside the burning buildings a precarious one in this air view of the blaze which consumed 3,800 television sets, the modern contents of three of the historic structures. Twenty-one firemen were injured, most of them by falling debris, when a wall gave way, and damage was estimated at three million dollars.

Police Hunting Thieves For $340,000 in Gems

Detroit, Jan. 16 (AP)—Police said today professional diamond thieves, who may have trailed their victim from New York, were being sought in a reported $340,000 gem holdup here yesterday.

It seems obvious those two men knew exactly what the salesman was carrying and when he would have the jewelry in his room," said Inspector Carl Falk of the holdup bureau.

Anthony Seaton, president of Antoville Galleries of New York and a jewelry salesman, reported to satisfy in part by purchases abroad. Deal after deal with non-Communist nations this year concluded by the Russians and their allies has provided for supplying to Russia of non-strategic materials and foods, such as cloth from Italy or France or oranges from Israel.

While the war was going on in Korea, while the market for all export goods in the west were generally brisk, while the Communists were only interested in buying machinery and raw materials which had war potential, the issue was fairly clear cut. Now it's not.

There are these fundamental factors: The Communists do get advantage from trade with the west. In the 30s western equipment permitted them to industrialize the Soviet Union more rapidly than they would have been able to do it without such equipment. Right now the Communists are continuing their drive to industrialize the Communist world including China and they want capitalist help in doing it because they know from experience how valuable that help is.

While their interest in consumers goods and foodstuffs from the west this year is intense, the Reds continue to set their long term sights on breaking down completely the western restrictions on trade in strategic goods and equipment.

Their trade drive is not just "post-Stalin." It began before that. A year before Stalin's death the Russians organized the Moscow Economic Conference to dangle in front of western businessmen orders for non-restricted commodities and the prospects for large orders "should trade restrictions be abolished."

George W. Schneider, local jeweler: "They (the plans) look good. They should eliminate the traffic problems in this end of the city." Schneider added that he was greatly impressed by the "tremendous amount of time and effort spent in gathering the data for the plans."

James L. Rowe, shoe store proprietor: "I haven't given it as much thought as I would like to but personally I lean to the idea of a very good long-range program."

Herman G. Rafalowsky, clothier: "The way it was laid out yesterday it seems it would be alright but I want to go into it further. It is possible (the proposed interchange) could split the city in half. I'll have to give it a little more consideration."

Considers Business Angle

Joseph Scott, clothier: "I really don't know too much about it yet. I suspect it is a good plan. Perhaps the state engineers should meet with the businessmen's associations to talk about its effect on business."

When the plan was presented on Friday, Mayor Stang promised immediate action will be taken on the study of the proposal.

Bound copies of the proposal have been provided by the state for study by aldermen and supervisors.

The next meeting of the Common Council will be Wednesday, Jan. 20.

Looks Good to Bush

Percy Bush, supervisor of the town of Ulster, who was present at Friday's hearing, noted that the proposal will also affect residents in his township. He said as far as he knows it will not be necessary for the project to take any residences with possible exception of one or two but that it will take some farmland.

Bush said he believes it is a step in the right direction and will not seriously affect any of the residents. He noted much of the farmland that would be involved has already been cut up by the Thruway construction.

"I think," Bush said, "of what I studied it looks like a really good plan."

Reds Trying . . . Snowfall Leaves Four Inches Here

An estimated four or five inches of snow fell last night in the city as sassing crews worked through the early morning hours.

The fall began about 1:30 a. m., it was reported by Edward Geschwinder of the Board of Public Works, a member of one of the night crews.

According to the forecast from Albany the snow may turn into rain sometime today.

No accidents were reported to local police during the night and traffic was moving slowly in the city.

Geschwinder said BPW crews worked for 20 hours yesterday, plowing until noon, and picking up snow and sanding in the afternoon. Sanders were out last night.

Slashed by Bandit

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—A 29-year-old secretary for a jewelry manufacturing firm suffered a cut on the left arm yesterday when she attempted to shield herself from a knife-wielding bandit who robbed her of the company payroll of between $500 and $600. The young woman was Rita Damian, of 34-40 78th street, Jackson Heights, Queens, a secretary employed by the manufacturing firm of E. K. Werthimer Company, with offices at 15 West 36th street.

She held police she was returning from the Irving Trust Company office in the Empire State Building and was about to enter the lobby of her employer's building when a young Negro preceded her. When she got inside, the lobby was empty and the several elevators were at upper floors. The young man turned on her, a knife in his hand, and swung at her. She put up her left arm for protection and the knife slashed her wrist. She dropped the envelope with the payroll roll in it. The bandit seized the envelope and fled.

Gigantic Snow Fight

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 16 (AP)—Police collided ten Yale men yesterday as they broke up a snowball brawl involving an estimated 1,500 college and high school students. A policeman suffered a slight injury, a truck driver went to a hospital with nervous prostration after a snowball broke a window on his vehicle, at least one student got a black eye and two blocks of a downtown street were barred to traffic. The snow was ideal for snowballing, a warm sun making it soft and easily packed. Today's uproar apparently just started spontaneously.

Port Strike Off

New York, a. n. 16 (AP)—A strike threat by Port of New York weighers, scamen and samplers—members of the old International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA)—has been called off, at least for now. James J. Kirk, business agent of ILA Local 947, announced last night that the port workers involved will go along with a federal mediation request not to strike until government conciliators can try to resolve the dispute. The strike had been threatened for today.

Grandmother Executed

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 16 (AP)—Dismal winter rain beat against the walls of Ohio Penitentiary last night as a plump, gray-haired grandmother died in the electric chair at 8 p. m. Mrs. Dovie Blanche Dean, 53, convicted of murdering her husband by slipping rat poison into his milk, died silently and with downcast eyes. The state contended she killed him for his $27,000 estate.

The U.S.S.R. will be a more important figure in world trade than ever in the past.

This means that the butter and cottonseed oil deal is just the first such issue to come up for discussion here. The question of trade policy towards the Russians is on the agenda for 1954 and other years as well.

New Chemical Protects Wool

These resort fashions have been given durable mothproofing that lasts through washing or dry-cleaning. There's complete freedom from worry about the long-sleeved turtle-neck sweater and pants (left) designed for leisure hours. Coats (center) have been similarly mothproofed, are 80 per cent wool and 20 per cent cashmere. Cashmere trio (right) is composed of pull-over sweater and cardigan with slim skirt that has deep collared pockets. These are in champagne color and all are durably moth-proofed for long wear without casualties. Even clean wool is not safe from moths and damage may occur all year around.

Premiere Thursday Of The Robe, First CinemaScope Picture

Kingston moviegoers will get their first view of CinemaScope, the new motion picture process which has caused a revolution in Hollywood studios even greater than that created 27 years ago when motion pictures found their voice at the Broadway Theatre on Thursday when Twentieth Century-Fox's CinemaScope production of The Robe in color by Technicolor, will have its local premiere.

In order to show this CinemaScope production, which covers a screen approximately two and one-half times wider than the customary motion picture size, the Broadway Theatre will be reconstructed with a new panoramic screen and special projection equipment. The unveiling of this new motion picture form will be the most important event in local theatrical history, according to Joseph Sommers manager of the theatre.

CinemaScope achieves the illusion of depth without the use of glasses," Mr. Sommers explained. "Its life-like, panoramic scope, plus stereophonic recordings, combine to make the audience experience complete engulment and participation in the action."

Is Multiple Process
"Actually CinemaScope is a multiple process. It consists of an anamorphic lens, the miracle-mirror screen and stereophonic recording. The anamorphic lens returns to its original shape an image previously distorted. This lens makes it possible for a 35 mm. camera to 'reach out' to each side as the eye does and compress a wide angle scene on a narrow strip of film. When this film is projected through a compensating lens attached to the theatre projection machine it spreads the image horizontally to its original."

"The miracle mirror screen with millions of tiny 'lenses' reflecting greater light is an all-purpose screen, completely compatible with and suitable for CinemaScope. In the Broadway Theatre it covers the entire proscenium. "Stereophonic recording, a high-fidelity sound system, uses four sound tracks which when wired to speakers strategically placed in the theatre, correspond to sound emanating from the actual persons or locations on the CinemaScope screen, affording an unusually natural and realistic effect."

The Robe is the first feature-length motion picture ever filmed in this new CinemaScope process which was pioneered and developed by Twentieth Century-Fox from an anamorphoscope process invented in France by M. Henri Chretien, an honorary professor at the Sorbonne and at the Optical Institute. Adapted from Lloyd C. Douglas best-seller, The Robe has Richard Burton, Jean Simmons, Victor Mature and Michael Rennie as its stars supported by a cast of thousands. Frank Ross produced this extraordinary film with Henry Koster as director.

Five new members who have joined the club are: Marilyn Warren, Joanne Hopper, Michelle Brande, Carol Reede and Marlene Fries.

During the holidays the older members packed candy in boxes for the Hurley Busy Bees. On Saturday, the club held a sleigh riding party after which refreshments were served.

This question comes from a man: "I would like to know if it would be proper for me, a married man, to give a present to a young woman who is not married. Here is the situation: One of the young women with whom I work has gone out of her way on many occasions to do things for me. She is having a birthday soon and I thought it would be nice to give her a birthday present in appreciation of her many kindnesses. Could this possibly be misconstrued?"

I don't see how your intention could possibly be misconstrued as long as the present is not a personal one. Anything for her personal adornment would, of course, be very questionable.

Small Community Custom

Dear Mrs. Post: We are giving a large dinner dance for my daughter. She would like to designate on the invitations who is to come with whom so that each one will have a partner going into dinner. I have never seen this done before and would like to know if it would be proper, and if so, how is it worded?

Answer: In a fairly small community in which I was once visiting, there was a custom which would solve your present problem. At the bottom of the invitations to the men guests, the hostess wrote: "Will you please bring Mary Smith" or "Jane Jones" or whoever was to sit next to him at dinner, and on the girls' invitations she wrote: "Your partner will be John Green" or "Henry Alden," etc. Then it was up to the boy to call the girl and say that he would come for her at such a time.

Chaperoning Each Other

Dear Mrs. Post: Would the fact that there are several couples in the party after the impropriety of three unmarried girls and men going to a well-known winter resort hotel for a weekend of skiing?

Answer: Three couples certainly would be better than one. If they are very quiet and dignified and stay in a group, I don't think they would be criticized.

Is it good taste to use place cards for a small dinner party? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her booklet No. 504, "Table Setting," describes the use of place cards. To obtain a copy send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Get Out—Save Self
For the Next Hand

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I have often advised bridge players to keep fighting to the bitter end, but there is such a thing as taking this advice too literally. If the situation is completely hopeless, you might just as well get what you can and save your energy for another hand.

When today's hand was played at the recent national tournament in Dallas, one determined young lady fought so hard to get a trick that wasn't there that she lost a trick that her opponent was trying to give her.

West opened the three of hearts, dummy put up the ten, and East covered with the queen. Ralph Cash, of Phoenix, Ariz., won the first trick with the king of hearts and naturally went after the clubs. Since entries to dummy were too scarce to let him play the clubs any other way, Cash began by laying down the king of clubs.

West discarded the deuce of spades, and Cash saw at once that he would have to lose a club trick. He therefore showed his hand and said "I'm going to lead the ten of clubs next and let it ride. You can take the queen of clubs, but that's all you can get."

This was a perfectly correct analysis. East should have taken her one club trick and shut up shop for the day. Instead, perhaps hoping for a miracle, she said: "Play it out."

Cash took the king of clubs and led the ten of clubs as he had announced he would. East defiantly refused the trick.

Meanwhile poor West was trying to find a good discard on the second round of clubs. He had already seen declarer's hand, for Cash had put it down on the table when he made his claim of 12 tricks. A diamond discard would set up a trick for dummy, while a heart or a spade discard would set up a trick for the South hand.

After much perspiration, West discarded a second spade. Declarer then cashed the ace and queen of diamonds, continued with the ace and pack of hearts, and then led a club to dummy's ace to discard a heart on the king of diamonds. His four spades took the rest of the tricks, giving him an overtrick and giving East a rather red face.

May Subpoena Jack Molinas

New York, Jan. 16 (P)—Bronx District Attorney George De Luca today was considering whether or not to subpoena Jack Molinas, suspended Fort Wayne basketball player, to appear before a Bronx grand jury.

"We are studying the situation and the facts will determine what our next step will be," De Luca said following Molinas' refusal to appear voluntarily.

The grand jury adjourned until next week after statements by four persons were read to its members yesterday. Two of the statements were made by Bronx candy store operator Isadore Ratensky and his son, Stanley, who used to play schoolyard basketball with Molinas.

Molinas had said he bet, by telephone, on Fort Wayne to win in 10 games. These calls led to the investigation by the National Basketball Association that suspended the former Columbia University basketball captain.

Would Use Surpluses

New York, Jan. 16 (P)—Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas has suggested that farm surpluses instead of money be used in conducting this country's foreign aid program.

Shivers, a Democrat who supported Eisenhower in the last election, spoke last night before the New York Southern Society. The use of farm surpluses, he said, "would seem more logical, somehow, than paying off both the farmer and the foreigner in cash and letting the surplus food spoil in storage."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Get Out—Save Self For the Next Hand

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I have often advised bridge players to keep fighting to the bitter end, but there is such a thing as taking this advice too literally. If the situation is completely hopeless, you might just as well get what you can and save your energy for another hand.

When today's hand was played at the recent national tournament in Dallas, one determined young lady fought so hard to get a trick that wasn't there that she lost a trick that her opponent was trying to give her.

West opened the three of hearts, dummy put up the ten, and East covered with the queen. Ralph Cash, of Phoenix, Ariz., won the first trick with the king of hearts and naturally went after the clubs. Since entries to dummy were too scarce to let him play the clubs any other way, Cash began by laying down the king of clubs.

West discarded the deuce of spades, and Cash saw at once that he would have to lose a club trick. He therefore showed his hand and said "I'm going to lead the ten of clubs next and let it ride. You can take the queen of clubs, but that's all you can get."

This was a perfectly correct analysis. East should have taken her one club trick and shut up shop for the day. Instead, perhaps hoping for a miracle, she said: "Play it out."

Cash took the king of clubs and led the ten of clubs as he had announced he would. East defiantly refused the trick.

Meanwhile poor West was trying to find a good discard on the second round of clubs. He had already seen declarer's hand, for Cash had put it down on the table when he made his claim of 12 tricks. A diamond discard would set up a trick for dummy, while a heart or a spade discard would set up a trick for the South hand.

After much perspiration, West discarded a second diamond. Declarer then cashed the ace and queen of diamonds, continued with the ace and pack of hearts, and then led a club to dummy's ace to discard a heart on the king of diamonds. His four spades took the rest of the tricks, giving him an overtrick and giving East a rather red face.

May Subpoena Jack Molinas

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Bronx District Attorney George De Luca today was considering whether or not to subpoena Jack Molinas, suspended Fort Wayne basketball player, to appear before a Bronx grand jury.

"We are studying the situation and the facts will determine what our next step will be," De Luca said following Molinas' refusal to appear voluntarily.

The grand jury adjourned until next week after statements by four persons were read to its members yesterday. Two of the statements were made by Bronx candy store operator Isadore Ratensky and his son, Stanley, who used to play schoolyard basketball with Molinas.

Molinas had said he bet, by telephone, on Fort Wayne to win in 10 games. These calls led to the investigation by the National Basketball Association that suspended the former Columbia University basketball captain.

Would Use Surpluses

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas has suggested that farm surpluses instead of money be used in conducting this country's foreign aid program. Shivers, a Democrat who supported Eisenhower in the last election, spoke last night before the New York Southern Society. The use of farm surpluses, he said, "would seem more logical, somehow, than paying off both the farmer and the foreigner in cash and letting the surplus food spoil in storage."

Hollywood, Jan. 16 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio were on their honeymoon today. But where? The form chart held firm in the DUSO basketball conference last night, so all eyes will be turned toward the Kate Walton Field House Tuesday.

There the league's second major showdown within a week—Kingston (6-0) vs. Newburgh Academy (5-0)—takes place.

Both schools won without much trouble last night.

Kingston High got a beautifully played game from Dick Bezemer and Skip Brodhead to roll over Port Jervis, 65-46, at the tri-state city, with the Red and Black picking up several baskets in the last few minutes.

Bezemer Scores 24
Bezemer dominated the boards and was deadly with taps and outside jump shots to rack up his seasonal high of 24 points. Brodhead finished with 10 points and it was his early spree that removed any doubt about the final outcome.

The Kiasmen led 15-9 at the quarter and stretched their margin to 31-21 at the intermission. Britt led the tri-staters with 13 points.

NFA in Romp
Newburgh Academy got 24 points from Mickey Burkowski and 20 from Harold Kaplan to roll over Liberty, 89-46. It was the Redskins' sixth loss in seven starts. Ivan Yankovitch, playing with one arm in a cast, led the mountaineers with 13.

Gary Mendez led with 23 points as Poughkeepsie High rebounded from their Kingston loss to whip a stubborn Middletown quintet, 70-59, in the Poughkeepsie bandbox.

Bill Williams, Middletown's crack scorer, was high with 24.

Monticello's potent combine, a threat at home to any team in the circuit, overpowered its county rival, Fallsburg, by 71-56. Mendy Ringel had 23 and Tractenberg 22 for the Redskins.

Dave Kwartler led Fallsburg with 22.

Ellenville drew the conference bye.

Babe Didrickson Voted Greatest Sports Comeback

Sea Island, Ga., Jan. 16 (AP)—Babe Didrickson Zaharias, whose valiant fight against cancer was voted the greatest sports comeback of 1953, got the news at a dismal moment.

"Awful . . . worst round of golf I ever played in my life," the Babe moaned yesterday just before a reporter told her she had edged out Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox slugger, for the "comeback" honor in the 23rd annual Associated Press year-end poll.

"It makes me feel good," she responded with sincere simplicity. The Babe—she hasn't been called Mildred since childhood—is here for the Sea Island Women's Open golf tournament which opens the 1954 tour of the nation's top feminine links stars.

The depression that at awful 81 she shot in the first round did not last long.

The fanfare resulting from her victory over cancer doesn't bother Mrs. Zaharias at all. The 39-year-old Texan, who now lists Chicago as her home course, says she is glad if her story heartens others who face the often-fatal disease.

The star of the 1932 Olympics learned last April that she had cancer of the lower rectum.

KWBA Sets Jan. 28 As Deadline for State Entry Blanks

KWBA members are reminded that the deadline date for entries in the New York State Woman's Bowling tournament in Rochester is Jan. 28 and for the WIBC tournament in Syracuse, Feb. 10. The NYSWBA competition starts March 12 and the WIBC begins April 8.

WIBC tournament entry blanks have been sent to each league secretary by the KWBA in addition to those forwarded direct by the WIBC. "If your team does not plan to enter the tournaments, and you wish to bowl, it is suggested that you consult with your league secretary; possibly a pickup team can be arranged from your league and others," it was announced.

The KWBA will hold an open meeting Sunday, Jan. 31, beginning promptly at 3 p. m. at the YWCA on Clinton avenue. There will be a board meeting preceding the open meeting at 2:30 p. m.

Saddler Impresses In TKO Over Bossio

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Sandy Saddler, the featherweight champ, goes to Fort Jay Monday to work out his last three months in the army confident he still can handle anybody in his division.

The skinny 5-foot-7 New Yorker gave little Billy Bossio, a 5-foot-11 halfpint, a solid going over last night in his first start in 22 months.

Saddler, sleek at 130½ pounds, stopped Bossio in 2:35 of the ninth round of a non-title go at St. Nicholas Arena after dropping him twice for automatic eight counts in the third and ninth. The second knockdown actually was more of a push than a punch.

Charley Young makes a good suggestion to major league baseball owners.

Young, veteran Albany sports editor, is sick and tired of money-hungry ball players who seem to believe that every sports dinner, smoker or Hot Stove League session has a treasury that should be insured by Lloyds of London.

Shortly after the World Series, who like the rest of us, likes to arrange the appearance of ball players at men's clubs, sports banquets et al. received a letter from one Mary L. Buxbaum of Brookline, Mass.

"Act now," said Miss Buxbaum. "Gene Woodling, Gil MacDougald and Joe Collins are under my personal management. The fee is only $100 plus minimum expenses," she wrote.

Apparently, the poor sap trying to peddle baseball in his old home town was supposed to have his checkbook out by this time, ready to scribble off a fast three-figure coupon, for Booker Buxbaum added quickly, "Would you like to have Jimmy Piersall, the sensational Boston Red Sox outfielder? I can arrange for Piersall's appearance. Jimmy's fee is $150 for an evening performance and $75 for an appearance at a luncheon or breakfast meeting."

For the front office of a big league club to permit a letter of this sort to be sent out is a disgrace and thoroughly intolerable situation.

Harry Rudolph further testifies that the day of free celebrities, especially ball players, at banquets is finished. Commissioner Ford Frick was guest at Wilkes Barre, Pa. recently. The committee also sought Roy Campanella. His asking price is $1000 and he is booked solid.

Hy Van Wagenen's 18 Paces Local Cagers

William "Boo" Schaffer, the newlywed, hit a career high of 26 points as a Woodstock Varsity performer last night against Back's Cedaraps at the school gym.

And it was the kind of night when they all counted as Coach Walter Van Wagenen's tossers had to battle hard for an 87-77 victory over a stacked Cedarap lineup.

While Schaffer was clicking with 11 fields and four fouls, Big Bill Kleine was only a point away with 25 as the Woodstock backcourt dominated scoring. Big Sal Misasi unloaded 18.

This sharpshooting trio overcame the fine marksmanship of Huyler Van Wagenen, Red Hinkley and Kaplan. Hy Van Wagenen, the YMCA's top scorer, led Back's with 18 points. Hinkley had 16 and Kaplan rimmed 14.

Woodstock threatened to make a shambles of the game with a 25-15 quarter margin and 54-31 bulge at the half. But came the inevitable third quarter collapse and Back's gained a 27-14 edge. But the Varsity righted itself for a 19-19 standoff in the stretch.

Holguin Cracks Monterey Mark In Crosby Golf

Pebble Beach, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—Texas-born Tony Holguin, who has been known to set a sizzling pace on occasions before, was far in front of the field today as the second round of the Bing Crosby 54-hole Pro-Amateur golf championship got under way.

A course record setting 63 sent the dark complexioned sharpshooter from San Antonio off to a flying start. Some of the greatest name professionals in the business could barely make out the outline of their stocky fellow pro.

Defending champion Lloyd Mangrum, for instance, was exactly 10 strokes behind Holguin as the second round firing began.

Mangrum, ex-U. S. Open champion who holds the Crosby tournament record of 204, set last year, chalked up a one over par 73 for his initial round.

Holguin, 27 years old, Texas Open champion, carded 32-31 for the 6,246 yard Monterey Peninsula course. He had ten birdies, missed only one green, and had 12 putt records in the 36 holes.

While bagging the Texas Open last year, Holguin also carded a 31 selected players of the Western Conference against a like squad of the Eastern Conference.

It will be televised nationally over the Dumont System, with the Los Angeles area blacked out. The kickoff is slated for 1 p. m. (p. m. EST).

Major league baseball for too long has been too far away from the customer.

Players are paid on a yearly contract. Their off-season appearances are important to the clubs and the game. Any time a player can sit down with a group of ad-dicts and win them over, he is helping baseball. These people will, somewhere along the line, pay their way into a park where they might not have otherwise.

Bill Veck had the right idea—keeping a show on the road throughout the fall and winter. Naturally a noble athlete employed during the off-season should be reimbursed for time lost.

But it's bad business and taste for clubs to allow hired hands to demand exorbitant fees for selling their own dodge. That's why the owners should have their own speakers' bureau.

It would be low cost and highly profitable investment.

Kingston High's Jayvees blitzed Port Jervis yearlings, 24-13, in the first period and went on to rack up an impressive 61-46 triumph last night in the prelim at the tri-state city.

It was the sixth straight for Coach Jim Gilligan's cagers who were without the services of their top scorer Marty Kantrowitz, who missed the bus.

But Richie Strong made up the slack by dunking 19 points and playing a strong all-round game. Big Smith rimmed 13 points. Neil Keyser and Jim Jackson collaborated for 14 points and Al Long, Malazon and Decker hit with 14 apiece for Port Jervis.

Major league baseball for too long has been too far away from the customer.

Players are paid on a yearly contract. Their off-season appearances are important to the clubs and the game. Any time a player can sit down with a group of ad-dicts and win them over, he is helping baseball. These people will, somewhere along the line, pay their way into a park where they might not have otherwise.

Bill Veck had the right idea—keeping a show on the road throughout the fall and winter. Naturally a noble athlete employed during the off-season should be reimbursed for time lost.

But it's bad business and taste for clubs to allow hired hands to demand exorbitant fees for selling their own dodge. That's why the owners should have their own speakers' bureau.

The form chart held firm in the DUSO basketball conference last night, so all eyes will be turned toward the Kate Walton Field House Tuesday.

There the league's second major showdown within a week—Kingston (6-0) vs. Newburgh Academy (5-0)—takes place.

Both schools won without much trouble last night.

Kingston High got a beautifully played game from Dick Bezemer and Skip Brodhead to roll over Port Jervis, 65-43, at the tri-state city, with the Red and Black picking up several baskets in the last few minutes.

Bezemer Scores 24
Bezemer dominated the boards and was deadly with taps and outside jump shots to rack up his seasonal high of 24 points. Brodhead finished with 10 points and it was his early speed that removed any doubt about the final outcome.

The Kismen led 15-9 at the quarter and stretched their margin to 31-21 at the intermission. Britt led the tri-staters with 13 points.

NFA in Romp
Newburgh Academy got 24 points from Mickey Burkowski and 20 from Harold Kaplan to roll over Liberty, 89-46. It was the Redskins sixth loss in seven starts. Ivan Yankovitch, playing with one arm in a cast, led the mountaineers with 13.

Gary Mendez led with 23 points as Poughkeepsie High rebounded from their Kingston loss to whip a stubborn Middletown quintet, 70-59, in the Poughkeepsie bandbox. Bill Williams, Middletown's crack scorer, was high with 24.

Monticello's potent combine, a threat at home to any team in the circuit, overpowered its county rival, Fallsburg, by 71-56. Mendy Ringel had 23 and Tractenberg 22 for the Redskins.

Dave Kwiatler led Fallsburg with 22.

Ellenville drew the conference bye.

Babe Didrickson Voted Greatest Sports Comeback

Sea Island, Ga., Jan. 16 (AP)—Babe Didrickson Zaharias, whose valiant fight against cancer was voted the greatest sports comeback of 1953, got the news at a dismal moment.

"Awful . . . worst round of golf I ever played in my life," the Babe moaned yesterday just before a reporter told her she had edged out Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox slugger, for the "comeback" honor in the 23rd annual Associated Press year-end poll.

"It makes me feel good," she responded with sincere simplicity. The Babe—she hasn't been called Mildred since childhood—is here for the Sea Island Women's Open golf tournament which opens the 1954 tour of the nation's top feminine links stars.

The depression from that awful 81 she shot in the first round did not last long.

The fanfare resulting from her victory over cancer doesn't bother Mrs. Zaharias at all. The 39-year-old Texan, who now lists Chicago as her home course, says she is glad if her story heartens others who face the often-fatal disease.

Learned last April that she had cancer of the lower rectum.

KWBA Sets Jan. 28 As Deadline for State Entry Blanks

KWBA members are reminded that the deadline date for entries in the New York State Woman's Bowling tournament in Rochester is Jan. 28 and for the WIBC tournament in Syracuse, Feb. 10.

The NYSWBA competition starts March 12 and the WIBC begins April 8.

WIBC tournament entry blanks have been sent to each league secretary by the KWBA in addition to those forwarded direct by the WIBC. "If your team does not plan to enter the tournaments, and you wish to bowl, it is suggested that you consult with your league secretary; possibly a pickup team can be arranged from your league and others," it was announced.

The KWBA will hold an open meeting Sunday, Jan. 31, beginning promptly at 3 p. m. at the YWCA on Clinton avenue. There will be a board meeting preceding the open meeting at 2:30 p. m.

Saddler Impresses In TKO Over Bossio

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Sandy Saddler, the featherweight champ, goes to Fort Jay Monday to work out his last three months in the army confidant he still can handle anybody in his division.

The skinny 5-foot-7 New Yorker gave little Billy Bossio, a 5-foot-1 halfpint, a solid going over last night in his first start in 22 months.

Saddler, sleek at 130½ pounds, stopped Bossio in 2:35 of the ninth round of a non-title go at St. Nicholas Arena after dropping him twice for automatic eight counts in the third and ninth. The second knockdown actually was more of a push than a punch.

Hy Van Wagenen's 18 Paces Local Cagers

William "Boo" Schaffer, the newlywed, hit a career high of 26 points as a Woodstock Varsity performer last night against Back's Cedaraps at the school gym.

And it was the kind of night when they all counted as Coach Walter Van Wagenen's tossers had to battle hard for an 87-77 victory over a stacked Cedaraps lineup.

While Schaffer was clicking with 11 fields and four fouls, Big Bill Kleine was only a point away with 25 as the Woodstock backcourt dominated scoring. Big Sal Misasi unloaded 18.

This sharpshooting trio overcame the fine marksmanship of Huyler Van Wagenen, Red Hinkley and Kaplan. Hy Van Wagenen, the YMCA's top scorer, led Back's with 18 points. Hinkley had 16 and Kaplan rimmed 14.

Woodstock threatened to make a shambles of the game with a 25-15 quarter margin and 54-31 bulge at the half. But came the inevitable third quarter collapse and Back's gained a 27-4 edge. But the Varsity righted itself for a 19-19 standoff in the stretch.

Holguin Cracks Monterey Mark In Crosby Golf

Pebble Beach, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—Texas-born Tony Holguin, who has been known to set a sizzling pace on occasions before, was far in front of the field today as the second round of the Bing Crosby 54-hole Pro-Amateur golf championship got under way.

A course record setting 63 sent the dark complexioned sharpshooter from San Antonio off to a flying start. Some of the greatest name professionals in the business could barely make out the outline of their stocky fellow pro. Defending champion Lloyd Mangrum, for instance, was exactly 10 strokes behind Holguin as the second round firing began.

Mangrum, ex-U.S. Open champion who holds the Crosby tournament record of 204, set last year, chalked up a one over par 73 for his initial round.

Holguin, 27 years old, Texas Open champion, carded 32-31 for the 6,246 yard Monterey Peninsula course. He had ten birdies, missed only one green, and had 12 one putt greens during the almost unbelievable rounds. The previous competitive course record of 63 was made in 1949 by former National Open champion, Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis.

While bagging the Texas Open last year, Holguin also carded a round of 63. Besides setting the individual pace with yesterday's par cracking effort, he and his partner, Cleveland Indian pitching ace Bob Lemon led the pro-amateur division with a 30-31-61.

Nominations for Gulfstream Park's 1954 state races, totalling $327,500, close Feb. 23.

Ed Cereghino, pitcher for the Kansas City Blues in 1953, failed to get a hit in 21 times at bat.

Grayson Raps Exorbitant Hot Stove Fees; Thinks They Tear Down Player Goodwill

By HARRY GRAYSON (NEA Sports Editor)

Charley Young makes a good suggestion to major league baseball owners.

Young, veteran Albany sports editor, is sick and tired of money-hungry ball players who seem to believe that every sports dinner, smoker or Hot Stove League session has a treasury that should be insured by Lloyds of London.

Shortly after the World Series, who like the rest of us, likes to arrange the appearance of ball players at men's clubs, sports banquets et al. received a letter from one Mary L. Buxbaum of Brookline, Mass.

"Act now," said Miss Buxbaum. "Gene Woodling, Gil MacDougald and Joe Collins are under my personal management. The fee is only $100 plus minimum expenses," she wrote.

The Home Town Sap

Apparently, the poor sap trying to peddle baseball in his old home town was supposed to have his checkbook out by this time, ready to scribble off a fast three-figure coupon, for Booker Buxbaum added quickly, "Would you like to have Jimmy Piersall, the sensational Boston Red Sox outfielder? I can arrange for Piersall's appearance. Jimmy's fee is $150 for an evening performance and $75 for an appearance at a luncheon or breakfast meeting."

For the front office of a big league club to permit a letter of this sort to be sent out it is a disgrace and a thoroughly intolerable situation.

Harry Rudolph further testifies that the day of free celebrities, especially ball players, at banquets is finished. Commissioner Ford Frick was guest at Wilkes Barre, Pa. recently. The committee also sought Roy Campanella. His asking price is $1000 and he is booked solid.

Practically all of the stadium players and even a number of lesser lights now have agents. At a time when baseball, more than ever, needs the support of the real fans—the blokes who go to smokers and sport nights—it is allowing its players to assume roles as hungry little men who deem it a favor to say hello for anything less than $150.

Major league baseball for too long has been too far away from the customer.

Players are paid on a yearly contract. Their off-season appearances are important to the clubs and the game. Any time a player can sit down with a group of addicts and win them over, he is helping baseball. It would be low cost and highly profitable investment.

Campanella Cited

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Roy Campanella, slugging catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was named "Player of the Year" by the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America today. He will receive the Sid Mercer Memorial award at the writers' dinner Jan. 31.

Ferraro Leads Loop With 206 Average

Old Home Week in the Hudson Valley bowling league finds Rapp's Express entertaining the league leading Jones Dairy squad tonight at 9 on alleys 5 and 6 at the Bowlodrome.

A few alleys away, on 9 and 10, Elston Sports Shop and Schryver Lumber will be committing mayhem on each other.

The Dairy (43½-10½) lead Newburgh Toobies by the vital half game; they picked up in a match with Liberty, Poughkeepsie Cabs are third with 39 wins and 12 losses.

Schryver Lumber (33-21) is fifth in the team standings, leading the Sportsmen by three games in the win column. They have won the same number.

Ferraro's 206 Leads

Johnny Ferraro has taken over the individual leadership with a 206.28 average for 54 sets. With three less games, Phil Versace of Poughkeepsie is second with 205.11 and will need around 687 in the postponed match to overhaul the Jones Dairy ace.

Interest in tonight's clash between Joneses and Rapp's hinges on whether or not the Dairy men can solve the tough "5 and 6" planks. Ken Joseph, Express captain, predicts that no member of the Jones squad will hit "600".

Walker's 547 Leads Hercules

Willard Walker led the Hercules League with a 547 series on games of 167, 197 and 183. Dave Snell hit 519.

Other high shooters were Clarence Herdman 468, Ike Mower 463, Vince Clearwater 460, Richard Dulin 499, James Kennedy 493, Richard Kelekian 468 and Vince Schradner 459.

Team results: Lab 3, B&F 0; By Pass 2, Blast-in Caps 1; Powder Line 2, Wire Room 1.

All Star Bowling

Chicago, Jan. 16 (AP)—More than 200 of the nation's star bowlers begin today the first leg of the nine-day national individual match game bowling championships. The 160 men and 64 women entrants first face four days of preliminary competition on a total pin basis. This will whittle the field down to 46 in both men's and women's fields for match play starting Wednesday.

The meet ends Sunday, Jan. 24.

Jayvees Score Sixth Straight

Rip Port Jervis By 61-46 Margin, Strong Hits 19

Kingston High's Jayvees blitzed Port Jervis yearlings, 24-13, in the first period and went on to rack up an impressive 61-46 triumph last night in the prelim at the tri-state city.

It was the sixth straight for Coach Jim Gilligan's cagers who were without the services of their top scorer Marty Kantrowitz, who missed the bus.

But Richie Strong made up the slack by dunking 19 points and playing a strong all-around game. Bob Smith rimmed 13 points. Neil Keyser and Jim Jackson collaborated for 14 points and Al Long, the other starter, had three.

Malzahn and Decker hit with 14 apiece for Port Jervis.

KBA Entry Deadline Set at Midnight

Deadline for entries for the Kingston Bowling Association tournament is midnight tonight.

KBA secretary Irwin J. Thomas reported an entry of 29 as of this morning. More than 90 teams competed last year. Although entries must be postmarked by midnight, KBA officials anticipate a heavy batch of blanks in the weekend mail. The tournament starts Monday, Feb. 8, at Ferraro's Bowlodrome and will run through the 12th. Singles and doubles will be rolled Feb. 13-14.

Hercules League, with a 100 per cent entry of six teams, leads in the entry list. The Ferraro Major has furnished five teams to date. City Minor lists three squads, with two each from the Good Neighbor, Mercantile National, Mercantile American, Federation American and Tavern Association.

The schedule committee of George Robinson and Irwin J. Thomas meets Monday night to draft the schedule.

THIS NEW BANDAGE SPRAYS ON

A new plastic surgical dressing, offering patients more comfort, is now available to the medical profession. Made of transparent bakelite vinyl resins, it is said to be impermeable by bacteria, and allows doctors to observe the day-to-day progress of the wound without removing the bandage. The new bandage will reportedly stay in place and withstand washing, yet is easily removed by simple peeling. It was designed by the U. S. Air Force for mass treatment of burns in catastrophes. These pictures show new film bandage contrasted with conventional ones.

Flexible new bandage is compared to awkward old-type covering.

KBA Entry Deadline Set at Midnight

Deadline for entries for the Kingston Bowling Association tournament is midnight tonight.

KBA secretary Irwin J. Thomas reported an entry of 29 as of this morning. More than 90 teams competed last year.

Although entries must be postmarked by midnight, KBA officials anticipate a heavy batch of blanks in the weekend mail. The tournament starts Monday, Feb. 8, at Ferraro's Bowlodrome and will run through the 12th. Singles and doubles will be rolled Feb. 13-14.

Hercules League, with a 100 per cent entry of six teams, leads in the entry list. The Ferraro Major has furnished five teams to date. City Minor lists three squads, with two each from the Good Neighbor, Mercantile National, Mercantile American, Federation American and Tavern Association.

The schedule committee of George Robinson and Irwin J. Thomas meets Monday night to draft the schedule.

A new plastic surgical dressing, offering patients more comfort, is now available to the medical profession. Made of transparent bakelite vinyl resins, it is said to be impermeable by bacteria, and allows doctors to observe the day-to-day progress of the wound without removing the bandage. The new bandage will reportedly stay in place and withstand washing, yet is easily removed by simple peeling. It was designed by the U. S. Air Force for mass treatment of burns in catastrophes. These pictures show new film bandage contrasted with conventional ones.

Flexible new bandage is compared to awkward old-type covering.

Stevens Goes to Iran

London, Jan. 16 (AP)—Britain has named Roger B. Stevens, former envoy to Sweden, as ambassador to Iran—probably the No. 1 hotspot for a British diplomat.

The London and Tehran governments, long embroiled in a bitter dispute over nationalized British oil holdings in Iran, agreed only recently to resume diplomatic relations. Stevens, a 47-year-old Foreign Office veteran, will take up his new assignment in Tehran within a month, British officials announced yesterday. He will represent Britain in a projected new round of negotiations aimed at settling the oil dispute. British-Iranian relations were broken off in 1952.

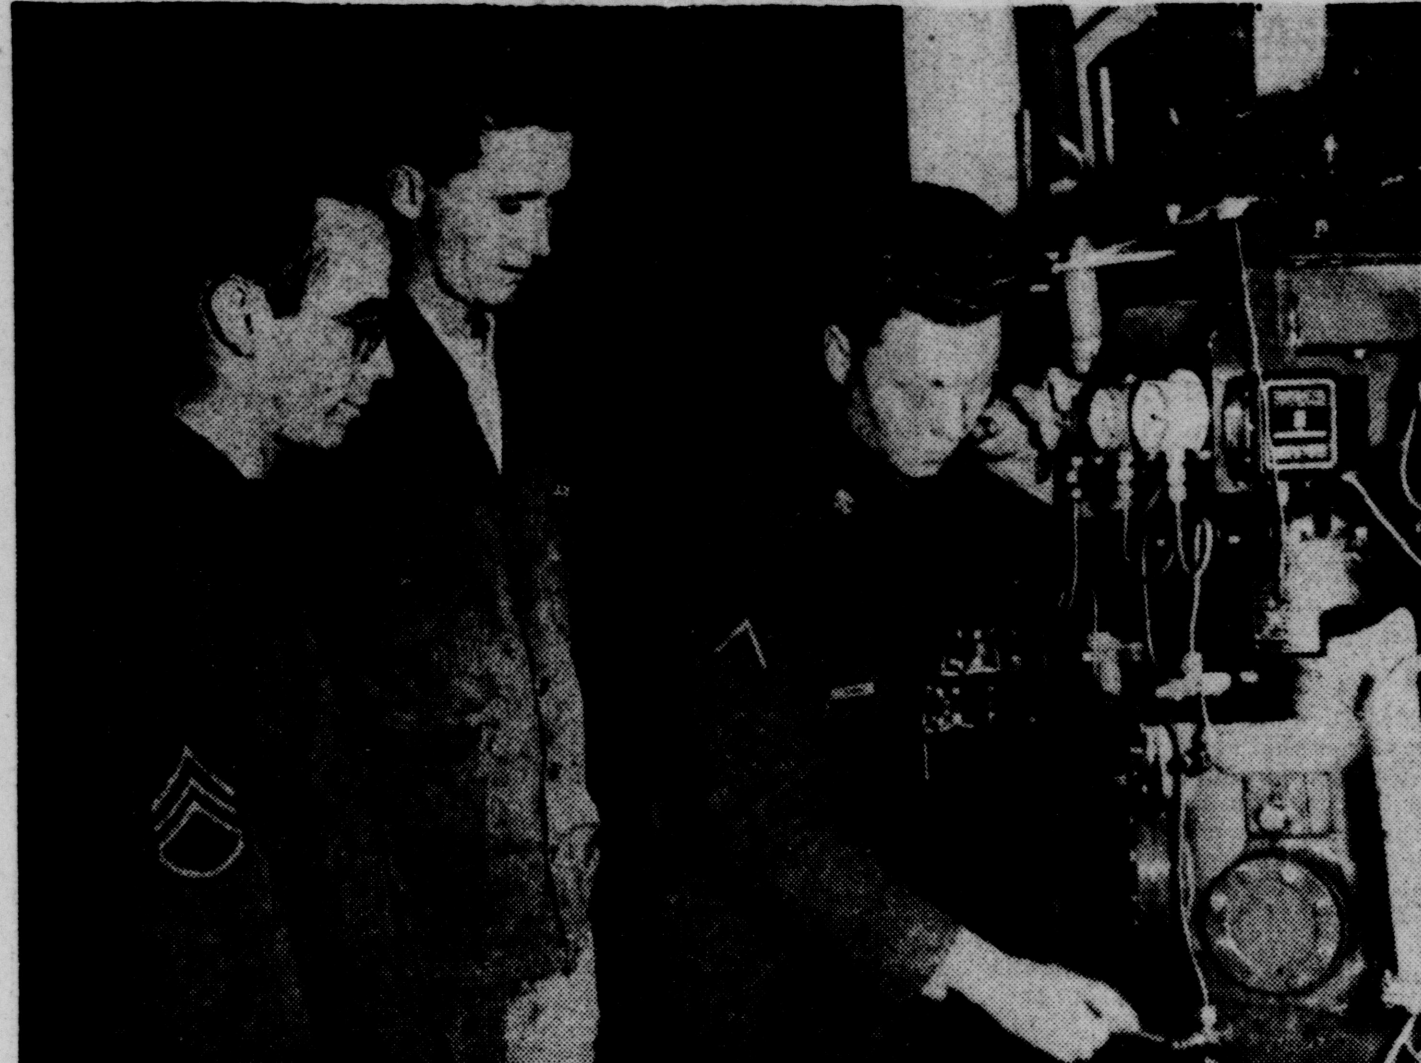

Tanker Sinks After East River Collision

The main deck of the 205-foot oil tanker F. A. Verdon is almost completely under water as she rests against a seawall on the Manhattan side of the East river in New York, Jan. 14, after being in collision with a dry cargo ship, the Beth Coaster, in the river. A tugboat stands by the sunken tanker in the shadow of the Williamsburg Bridge which connects Manhattan with Brooklyn. Six of the tanker's seven crew members were injured, none seriously. The Verdon, fully loaded, was moving upstream enroute from Carteret, N. J., to West Haven, Conn. The Beth Coaster continued south and anchored off Staten Island.
